Acknowledgements

Often words are too inadequate to serve as a mode of expression of one’s inner feelings, especially the sense of indebtedness and gratitude, yet I shall be failing in my duty if I do not formally offer my sincerest thanks and deep sense of gratitude to all those, who helped in one way or the other in the completion of this work.

Indeed the words at my command are inadequate in form and spirit to express my deep sense of gratitude and overwhelming indebtedness to a dynamic academician, a prominent economist, and my esteemed guide Professor Sucha Singh Gill, Director General, Centre for Research in Rural and Industrial Development (CRRID), Chandigarh, who has all along been an immense source of inspiration and encouragement to me in completing this work into its present form. I must also place on record a debt of gratitude to my esteemed and revered co-supervisor Dr. Jaswinder Singh Brar, Reader, Centre for Research in Economic Change (CREC), Punjabi University, Patiala, whose intellectual stimulation, invaluable suggestions, and personal involvement have enabled me to accomplish this work. He has given me untiring help, painstaking guidance, and constant encouragement from the very inception of the work, without which this thesis could have never been completed.

I am grateful to Dr. Ranjit Singh Ghuman, Professor and Head, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala for his timely assistance to me. My sincere thanks are due to all the faculty members of the Department of Economics, especially Professor Sukhwinder Singh, Professor Inderjit Singh, Professor Lakhwinder Singh, Dr. Parmod Aggrawal, Assistant Professor for their indispensable help. I also owe my thanks to Professor Sukhpal Singh, Associate Professor, IIM Ahmedabad; Dr. Baldev Singh, Assistant Professor, SGTB Khalsa College, New Delhi; Dr. Manjit Sharma, Assistant Professor, DAV College, Chandigarh and Dr. Surinder Kumar Singla, Assistant Professor, Central University of Punjab, Bathinda for their invaluable suggestions and encouragements. My special thanks to Mr. Nirvair Singh, Assistant Professor, SGTB Khalsa College, Anandpur Sahib (Ropar), Mr. Gurinder Singh Dhot, Advocate, Mr. Kush Kumar, Research Scholar, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala for their invaluable help and moral support to complete my research work. I would express my gratitude to my friends Mr. Gurmeet Singh, Mr. Gurwinder Singh, Mr. Gurtej Singh, Mr. Rakesh Kumar, Mr. Jatinder Singh, Mr. Deepak Kumar, Miss. Sunita, and Miss. Swati for their immense moral support and encouragement all through my research work.

I am also immensely grateful to the staff and authorities of various educational institutions and libraries viz. Delhi University, Jawaharlal Nehru University, National Council for Applied Economic Research (NCAER), Institute of Economic Growth, all at New Delhi; Punjabi University, Patiala; Panjab University, Chandigarh for rendering necessary research material and other facilities to me. I am also thankful to the non-teaching staff of Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala, for their extensive cooperation.

My acknowledgements would not be completed without a mention of my parents, Sh. Jeet Singh and Smt. Balbir Kaur, who are my pillars of strength and guiding light all through my life. I am greatly thankful to my brother Mr. Jaswinder Singh, brother-in-law Mr. Varinderpal Singh, and my sister Mrs. Mohinder Kaur, who helped me a lot to reach at this stage of my life supporting me by one way or the other. I would also like to present a lovely thank to my nephew Harman and nice Harsimran for providing me some relaxing hours during the tiring research work.

Last but not least, with limitless modest, I would like to thank to the great researchers: Mahatma Buddha, Guru Nanak Dev ji, Karl Marx and Dr. B.R Ambedkar who gave me strength and motivation to complete this research work successfully with patience and confidence even in so many adverse situations.
