ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe debt of gratitude to my Research Supervisor Dr. R.K Sehgal, Punjab School of Management Studies, Punjabi University Patiala for his affectionate treatment, constant inspiration, constructive and fruitful suggestions all along the period of my study. Infact, he has been leading me on the right path with his enlightening advice and seasoned guidance. It is due to his soft and firm way of encouraging and giving constructive feedback that I have been able to give some shape to the ideas that have for long been prevailing in my thoughts. I deeply indebted to him for being my mentor and guide throughout this endeavor.

I express my deep gratitude to Dr. A.S Chawla, Head and Faculty of Punjab School of Management Studies, Punjabi University for giving valuable suggestions and moral support during all my visits to the department for presentations etc. The unfailing support of the staff has been a real bliss for me sitting at a distance and coordinating for all office correspondence.

I remain indebted to all Managers and Staff of different Cellular groups who were kind enough to extend their cooperation for carrying out the tedious task of data collection as a part of research project. Special thanks are due to all participant organizations and their respondents for extending their help willingly and giving invaluable suggestions. It is the most difficult to put to words the efforts put forth by my parents and my in-laws for instilling in me an ambition and always appreciating my efforts and achievements. My Family members are being my constant source of energy and helping me in all possible ways despite there own work pressures. Sai Ram the Great God has certainly been kind to give me such wonderful souls all around and was my key motivational support at various difficult situations. I Thanks him & pray great success and joy for all.
