Acknowledgements

This thesis would not have been possible without the help of many great people, and not as successful or enjoyable without the help of many more. I could never say thank you all enough, so please let these acknowledgements be a small token of my huge and humble appreciation from the bottom of my heart.

To Dr. Girish Chopra, Professor, Department of Zoology, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, I could never express my gratitude enough. He has been more than a guide or a mentor who has given me the rare opportunity to specialize in Primatology. He has offered outstanding guidance over the years, and his recommendations and suggestions have been invaluable for this research work. I will be forever grateful to him for his faith in my potential and giving me a chance to make a profession of what I like the most, watching wild animals in the forest.

I express my deep and sincere gratitude to Prof. Abhay Singh Yadav, Prof. Rajneesh Sharma, Dr. Anita Bhatnagar and Dr. Anil Kumar, Department of Zoology for their constructive suggestions, their generous and cooperative attitude. I am grateful to Dr. Parmesh Kumar for his helpful comments, ideas, and suggestions that greatly improved this thesis.

I would like to thank all the non-teaching staff, Mr. Sube Singh, Mr. Rameshwar Sharma, Mr. Narang, Mr. Rameshwar Kundu, Mr. Bhairo Dutt, Mr. Lakshman, Mr. Sandeep Aneja, Mr. Surender, Mr. Ratan, Mr. Somnath Mr. Naresh, Mr. Vikram and Mr. Pritam, Department of Zoology, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra for their cooperation during study period.

My sincere thanks to Mrs. Umesh Bharti, my Zoology Lecturer in B.Sc. for creating my interest in animal world. I am indebted to Mr. Banarasi Das (Rtd. IFS, Department of Forest Haryana) who have always been a source of inspiration in my life.

It is a pleasure to thank Dr. Surjit Kumar, Dr. Tarsem Kumar, Mr. Ajay Kumar, Mr. Sanjeev Kamal Sharma, Miss Priyanka Choudhary, Miss Neha Aggarwal, Miss Seema, Miss Mandeep, Miss Hemlata and Miss Pooya for their help and motivation.

I acknowledge my gratitude to the Forest & Wild Life Department of Haryana for allowing me to conduct this research in the protected forest of Morni. In particular I would like to thank Mr. R. K. Sharma, Mr. Sodhi, Mr. Prem Prashant and Mr. Sanjeev Kumar for their valuable help during the whole study.
I especially thank Dr. A. K. Chhangani, Dr. V. P. Uniyal and Dr. N. P. S. Chauhan for providing valuable advice, feedback, and directions during the field work.

Deepest thanks are due to my field helper, Mr. Rajpal Singh (Wild Life Guard) whose climbing skills, biological insights, motorbike rides, humor, patience and care made the field work in forest so much easier and enjoyable.

On a personal front…..

This work would not have happened without my father Mr. Laxmi Chand and my mother Mrs. Nirmala Devi. Financially, logistically, emotionally, they are the two most supportive and committed parents a girl could have. I could never list all they did to help me realize my dreams. It is with the deepest respect, admiration and love for them as people and parents that I dedicate this thesis to them. I gratefully acknowledge support from my brother Mr. Rahul, my sister-in-law Mrs. Seema, my sisters Mrs. Deepa and Miss Aarti.

I want to pay my heartfelt thank to my father-in-law (late) Sh. Surat Singh and my mother-in-law Mrs. Omi Devi. Words are insufficient to express my indebtedness to my husband Mr. Subash Chander for his continues inspiration, courage and moral support. I am also grateful to Miss. Asha Gaur for her help in identification of plant specimens and for the moral support as a true friend.

Very sweet and special thanks to my nephew Devansh Bhoombak and Aditya Bhoombak, for always being stress busters in my life.

I would like to thank the people of Morni range, especially, Mr. and Mrs. Sushil Kumar, (wildlife guard) for providing food and accommodation during research work. I am also thankful to Vishal and Muskan for making me positive with their presence in the field.

There were moments that I was awed by what I saw in the field and moments that I wept. Both types of moments shaped me and this work, and I am grateful to God and all the people who helped me for making me believe in myself and living my dream of being a Primatologist.
