Acknowledgements

A researcher cannot complete a Ph.D. thesis alone. Therefore, I am deeply indebted to the following persons for their dedication, prayers and support as they helped me complete such an ambitious project.

It is a matter of great privilege for me to express my deepest gratitude and sincere reverence to my supervisor, Dr. Sangeeta Handa, Associate Professor, P.G. Department of English, Government Mohindra College, Patiala, for placing her confidence in me and introducing me to the topic. Her patience and continuous support encouraged me to be persistent and work to the best of my effort. Her ability to probe beneath the text is a true gift, and her insights have strengthened this study significantly. I will always be thankful for her excellent supervision, invaluable scholarly suggestions, constructive criticism and deep concern, that have helped me complete my thesis. It has been an honour to work with her.

I feel obliged and grateful to the faculty, Department of English, Punjabi University, Patiala, for their constructive and invaluable suggestions. Their constant encouragement helped me to grow past some hard phases and revived my ability to embark upon such an intimidating task. I express my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Rupinder Kaur, Head, Department of English, Punjabi University, for her unconditional support, co-operation and perceptive comments that helped me overcome many problems. I extend my special thanks to Dr. Manjit Inder Singh, Professor of English, Punjabi University, for his scholarly advice that proved extremely beneficial in the initial stages of my research and helped me overcome many hindrances throughout my study. I am deeply indebted to Dr. Gulshan Rai Kataria, Professor of English, Punjabi University, for expressing his faith in me and enrolling me as a Ph.D. candidate in the English Department. His constant encouragement and critical insight proved immensely helpful in improving my work consistently. I am also greatly thankful to Dr. Rajesh Kumar Sharma, Professor of English, Punjabi University, for his expert guidance in the research methodology. His invaluable scholarly suggestions helped me in developing my ideas and vision.

I wish to thank Dr. V.K. Tiwari, Principal, D.A.V. College, Jalandhar, for assisting me in understanding Bakhtinian concepts. Had it not been for his invaluable help, I never could have initiated my task successfully.

I feel immense pleasure in extending my appreciation and regard for my parents, Hardeep Singh Punia and Manmeet Kaur Punia, for educating me and making me capable of pursuing my doctorate. Their consistent moral support and encouragement helped me complete this piece of work. I also express my heartfelt emotions while thanking my parents-in-law, Gursham Singh Sekhon and Heminder Kaur Sekhon, for their patience and everlasting blessings which enabled me to complete my undertaking successfully. Above all, I would like to extend my personal warm appreciation to my husband, Bhalinder Singh Sekhon, whose minor sacrifices, patience, enduring support and constant understanding helped me achieve my target.

I am highly thankful to the learned authors of the several eminent sources that proved to be of great help and guidance to me throughout my study.

Last, but not the least, I thank the Almighty God for giving me patience, internal strength and focus to remain persistent and overcome the difficult phases during my endeavour.

Manpreet Punia