ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

There is no denying the fact that research undertakings, particularly in social sciences, represent largely a cooperative effort in which several individuals and organisations contribute. The present investigator has been fortunate in receiving much help and cooperation from many quarters. In fact, the sources of ungrudging help and cooperation are so numerous that it is difficult to mention all of them even cursorily. At the same time, not to acknowledge the debt of gratitude to those who gave their valuable time and shared their ideas and experiences in the enterprise would amount to ingratitude. In the first instance, a mention may be made of a large number of management executives, trade union leaders, workers, and police and labour officials in the district of Dhanbad who remain unnamed but generously helped the investigator in his work.

The University Grants Commission, New Delhi, through its doctoral fellowship programme has been doing much to encourage freshers to undertake research. The present investigator has been one of the beneficiaries.

Prof. D.P. Jatar, Vice-Chancellor, University of Saugar, while he was the Chairman, Department of Criminology and Forensic Science of the University has not only permitted the work to be carried out but also has been a constant source of inspiration. Besides, the faculty members including Dr. G.C. Jain, Dr. S.C. Tewari and Shri V.D. Matele and many others have taken interest in the progress of the work and have helped the investigator in completing it. The investigator is also beholden to Dr. Hira Singh, Director, National Institute of Social Defence, New Delhi, for his interest and encouragement.

The investigator is particularly indebted to Dr. M.Z. Khan, Professor, Institute of Criminology and Forensic Science, New Delhi. Apart from the fact that he is the 'supervisor', working with him has been a creative experience.

Similarly, many colleagues and friends including Shri Y.K. Saini, Dr. D.R. Singh, Shri R.K. Nair and many others have been affectionate and, at times, have shown concern with the completion of the work more than the investigator himself.

Lastly, the investigator is thankful to Shri V.K. Borwankar and Shri S. Malhotra who have rendered valuable secretarial assistance.
