ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my pleasant duty to acknowledge the help derived from several individuals and institutions in this endeavour. First and foremost, I owe a debt of gratitude to my teacher and research supervisor Prof. B.R. ANANTHAN, B.N. Bahadur Institute of Management Sciences, University of Mysore, Mysore. But for his expert guidance, sympathetic and inspiring attitude, my toils to complete an investigation of this nature would have never materialized. Indeed, I am short of words to list the vast obligations that I owe him and his family members.

With equally sincere feelings I record my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. B. Shivaraj, Chairman, B.N. Bahadur Institute of Management Science, University of Mysore, Mysore whose suggestions and ungrudging help have been a source of constant inspiration to me.

My thanks are also due to Prof. D. Anand, Chairman, Board of Studies in Business Administration, University of Mysore, Mysore for his benevolence and co-operation.

My thanks are also due to all the Faculty Members of B.N. Bahadur Institute of Management Studies, University of Mysore, Mysore. Special mention may be made of Prof. Aisha M. Sheriff, Dr. S.J. Manjunath and Prof. Jyothi Prakash.

My thanks are also due to Sri. Jagadish Bahadur and Prasad for their concern and help. I would be failing in my duty if I don’t acknowledge the help of Smt. Neela Kalamma for fine tuning my English language.
I am thankful to Librarians of University of Mysore, Administrative Staff Training Institute, Mysore, Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, and several agencies in Iran who supplied the database required for my study.

I am also thankful to all the respondents who co-operated with me by providing the necessary data relevant for my study. Words cannot express my gratitude to my father and parents-in-law for their blessings, spiritual support and encouragement throughout my stay in India.

Last but not the least, my thanks are due to my wife Ms. Azam Ghalebi for all her help, encouragement, patience and affectionate support. Without her support and love, it would have been impossible for me to complete the work.
