Acknowledgements

I bow with reverence, all humility and gratitude to thank “The Almighty” for giving me the opportunity to undertake this work and the determination and strength to successfully complete it.

Words fail to express financially and adequately my profound pleasure and deep sense of gratitude to my esteemed teacher, learned guide and supervisor, Dr. Lakhwinder Singh, Professor, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala, for it was his keen interest, valuable suggestions, masterly guidance, never failing help, affectionate encouragement and healthy criticism, which has brought this manuscript to see the light of the day. His exceptionally perfectionist manner and his vast sea of knowledge is nothing new for the Economics faculty, and I will always be proud of the fact that once, I was his student.

I gratefully acknowledge the facilities and good research environment provided by the Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala. I would like to thank Dr. R.S. Ghuman, Head of The Department, Department of Economics, for his support and guidance throughout my work, and the whole Faculty of the Department of Economics, for their cooperation and help. I am also thankful to the departmental Library staff for their unending help during this study.

It is with great reverence that I acknowledge the invaluable guidance rendered to me by Dr. Arup Mitra, Professor, Indian Institute of Economic Growth, New Delhi without whose able guidance this work could not have become a reality. I am also highly indebted to Dr. B.S. Ghuman, Professor, Department of Public Administration, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for his unflinching support and constructive criticism.

I register with devotion and regard my sincere thanks to library staff of Rattan Tata library, New Delhi, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, Indian Institute of Economic Growth, New Delhi, Panjab University, Chandigarh, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar and Panjab Agricultural University, Ludhiana, for their overwhelming support and never ending stimulus to persist with work that made this research project a smooth task.

I extend my sincere thanks to all my colleagues of Panjab University Regional Centre, Ludhiana, for their valuable support. I am also thankful to all my friends for the unending help during this study.

Words are inadequate in expressing my gratitude to my brother, brother-in-law and Sister-in-law for their blessings, love, care, constant encouragement and support rendered during my course of study.

I pay my sublime observance to my respected Parents-in-laws whose strong support, warmth and immense love guided me to dream, learn and always try harder to achieve the right and the best that life offers.

Parents are always a perpetual source of inspiration and encouragement. No words can express what their constant undemanding love, sacrifices, dedication and prayers have done to help me achieve whatever I am today.

I have no words to acknowledge the contribution of my loving husband Rajat Sikka, who has been a constant source of encouragement. I am indebted to him for everything. Last but not the least, special thanks to my little angel, Vrinda, whose smiling face always took away all my worries and made me laugh in the most difficult times. She, unknowingly, with her little acts of innocence always provided me the motivation to carry on and had been a constant source of inspiration.

There will remain many whose names do not feature above. There anonymity, however, in no way suggests that their contribution has gone unacknowledged. After all, mentioning names is no yardstick. I tender my sincere apologies and at the same time thank them for just being there when they were most required.

Pooja