ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Words are insufficient to express my deep reverence and gratitude to my honourable and distinguished supervisor Dr. Rajinder Kaur, Professor of Political Science, Department of Distance Education, Punjabi University, Patiala whose keen interest, life long experience, limitless patience, enduring guidance and consistent encouragement, which I have received from her at every stage in the preparation of this thesis, is unforgettable for me and without which the present shape of this thesis would have been impossible in this span of time. Working under her supervision was a very rewarding experience.

I am indeed indebted to Dr. Jagroop Kaur, Professor and Head Department of Political Science, Punjabi University, Patiala, for providing me all facilities to complete my thesis and her personal suggestions from time to time to make the study more meaningful.

Every research work has its share of contributors and influences and this study is no exception, so it is my prerogative to thank Dr. Balwinder Singh Tiwana, Professor, Department of Economics and Dr. Nazar Singh, Professor of History, Department of Distance Education, for their time to time suggestions.

I don't have sufficient words to express my extreme feeling of devotion to my parents Sh. Krishan Kumar and Smt. Darshana Devi. Their blessings, consistent help and encouragement is unforgettable to me without which this work would have been impossible. My special thanks are due to my family members (Manoj-Sonu, Kaplu, Sarthak, Mehnaar, Jaysh, Harwinder-Rinku, Khushwant-Neeru, Beant-Amarjit, Raj- Veena, Lali, Gogi, Mani, Ravneet) for encouraging me to take up higher studies. No expression of appreciation will be enough to acknowledge the invaluable inspiration that I received from my friends (Jagpal, Lakhbir, Jagat, Gopal, Ranjit, Avtar, Sadhana, Parkash, Ravi, Jeeti, Gurjant, Kuldeep, Rubi).

In the course of time I have received generous help from several libraries. I am grateful to library staff of Punjabi University, Patiala, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar, Panjab University, Chandigarh, who have been very helpful throughout my research work.

I extend my sincere thanks to S. Avtar Singh and Harmek Singh (Kamal Computers, Opp. Punjabi University, Patiala) for neat, meticulous efficient typing of this manuscript.
