Bibliography
BIBLIOGRAPHY

AVENEY (Brain). Electronic publishing and the information transfer process. Special Libraries. 74; 1983; 338-344.

BANDARI (B) etc. Under utilisation of maternity and child health service-the major factor for every IMR in rural Rajastan. Indian paediatrics. 28; 1989; 228-33.

CHAKRABORTHY (Biplab) and BASU (Asok). Information needs of Totos: A Sub-Himalayan Tribal community. IASLIC Bulletin. 44; 1999; 177-184.

CHELIMSKY (E). The political debate about health care: Are we losing sight of quality? Science. 262; 1993; 525-528.

DALJIT SINGH etc. Impact of health education pamphlets on maternal knowledge. Indian Journal of Child Health. 4; 1993; 105-107.

DAYANAND PAI (T). Medical Informatics and rural health services: A study of maternal and child health information in the field practice area of the Kasturba Medical College, Manipal. Bangalore. Bangalore University, Ph.D. 1997 (unpublished).

DIXIT (R P). Assessment of health literature information services in Indian health science libraries. International Information and Library Review. 25; 1993; 165-182.

EDWARDS (N C). Traditional birth attendants in Sierra Leone: Key providers of maternal and child health care in West Africa. Western Journal of Nursing Research. 9; 1987; 335-347.

FRANCHII (Medeline) and FARRELL (John). Health Care is in the pink. Datamation. 38; 1992; 125.

GRAVES (Mike) etc. Designing technology to support rural health care workers in India. SIGCHI Bulletin. 30; 1998 134-143.

HARDY (M C) etc. Evaluating the impact of library service on the quality and cost of medical care. Bulletin of the Medical Library Association. 77; 1989; 43-64.

HUTCHISON (Andrew) etc. Electronic data interchange for health care. IEEE Communications Magazine. 34; 1996; 28-34.

JAIIOO (U T) etc. Rural health Services: towards a new strategy. World Health Forum. 6; 1985; 150-152.

JONES (R). Use of a community based touch screen public access health information system. Health Bulletin. 51; 1993; 34-42.

KANCHAN (Rolee). Primary Health Services: Their adequacy and accessibility in Vadodara District. Region, Health and Health Care. 2; 1997; 13-19.

KAPIL (Umesh) and KUMAR (S). Health promotion for children in India. Indian Paediatrics. 25; 1988; 1137-1142.

KEMPSON (E). Consumer health information services. Health Libraries Review. 1; 1984; 127-144.

LINCOLD (T L) and KORPHNAY (R A). Computers, health care and medical information science. Science. 210; 1983; 257-263.

LIPPEVELD (Theo) etc. Health information systems making them work. World Health Forum. 18; 1997; 176-184.

MAHADEV (M) and RAMESH (C P). Role of medical libraries in India. International Library Movement. 8; 1986; 42-46.

MO (I). Information handling in health care services. Electrical communication. 64; 1990; 78-84.

MORY (Sue). The need for better clinical information systems. Australian Medical Record Journal. 20; 1990; 159-161.

PATRIKIOS (Helga). Meeting basic health information needs in Africa. Information Development. 11; 1995; 94-98.

SIMONS - MORTON (Bruce G) etc. Health communication in the prevention of alcohol, tobacco and drugs use. Health Education & Behavior. 24; 1997; 544-554.

STEVENs (Caroline A) etc. Internet health information sources. The Electronic Library. 14; 1996; 135-147.

STEVENs (Caroline A) etc. Health promotion: A role for public access. Journal of Information Science. 23; 1997; 175-186.

VASANJEE (B) etc. Utilization of health services among rural women in India. Public Health. 3; 1997; 135-148.

