ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is a great privilege for me to thank those who have helped me in presenting this thesis for my Ph.D. in Law course of study in Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra. Words are always insufficient to express gratitude for the help one receives from other. But the greatest debt which one owes and which can’t be repaid throughout the life is to one’s teacher. With great regards, I hereby express my gratitude to my respected Supervisor, Prof. (Dr.) Raj Pal Sharma, Chairman, Department of Law, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra whose scholarly guidance, valuable suggestions, encouraging attitude and keen interest throughout the entire course of study enabled me to accomplish the work. His necessary contribution at appropriate places made my thesis more analytical.

It is glad for me to record my thanks to my family particularly my loving children Udit and Ankit for their valuable support. I am highly indebted to my wife Smt. Shashi Bala Chauhan, District Judge (Family Court), who had extended me constant inspiration, motivation and cooperation to complete this work.

I also acknowledge with thanks for the support provided by the non-teaching staff, at Department of Law, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra. I also express my thanks to various Law Books Publishers for their commendable publications that helped me to collect various latest pronouncements of the Supreme Court and the High Courts.
