ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I deem it a delightful duty to acknowledge the help and guidance extended to me by the innumerable persons who have been involved in the completion of this work.

With deep respect and love I record my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. K Gangadharan, Head of the Department, Department of Applied Economics, Kannur University, Thalassery campus, Palayad, 670661, for his sincere guidance, fruitful discussions, effective criticisms, ever willing help and continuous encouragement during my research work. The study would not have taken its present shape without his constant encouragement and valuable help.

It is my duty to express my gratitude to Dr. S Harikumar, Professor, Department of Applied Economics, Cochin University of Science and Technology, Cochin for the valuable suggestions.

I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to Dr. KP Mani, Professor, Department of Economics, University of Calicut, John Mathai Centre, Trissur for his suggestions.

I also express my sincere gratitude to Dr. C Thampan, Senior Scientist, Agricultural Extension, CPCRI, Kasaragod who have willingly provided all information regarding soil fertility status.

I remember with deep gratitude the help extended to me by Sri. KM Mohammed, Assistant Soil Chemist and Sri. Prathib, Chemist, Assistant Soil Chemist Office, Kasaragod for furnishing me with all the information, records and documents related to soil fertility status required for the study.
I also express my sincere thanks to Sri. P Varadarajan, District Officer and Sri. EV Krishnan, Hydrologist, Groundwater Department, Kasaragod who have willingly given me all information required in connection with groundwater.

My heartfelt gratitude also goes to the farmers of five Panchayaths of Kasaragod district, who have willingly given me all information related to field survey.

Let me also place on record my sincere thanks to Dr. K Vijayan, Prof. K Madhavan Nambiar, former principals, Prof. P Sankaranarayana Holla, former HOD, faculty members of the Department of Economics and staff, Government College, Kasaragod who has shown great interest in sending me for doing research on deputation under the FIP of UGC.

My sincere gratitude to Sri. MR Balakrishnan, Director, Smt. Leela Devi S, Assistant Director (Planning) and Sri. Aji S, Statistical Assistant, Economics and Statistics Department, Vikas Bhavan, Thiruvananthapuram who have rendered valuable help for the collection of secondary data.

I am thankful to all staff members of the libraries - Kannur University, Thalassery campus, Palayad, Centre for Development Studies, Thiruvananthapuram, CPCRI, Kasaragod and Central library, Kerala Agricultural University, Trissur.

I express my very special thanks to Sri. MT Shihabudeen, faculty member and Sri. V Vineeshkumar, research scholar, Department of Applied Economics, Thalassery campus, Palayad who helped me a lot for the completion of this work. I am also thankful to the staff and faculty members of the Department of Applied Economics, Thalassery campus, Palayad for their valuable service.
Finally, my thanks are also to my family members for their inspiration and moral support.

KARUNAKARAN. N
