ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all I thank to Almighty Allah for his Mercy and Graciousness that enabled me to carry out this work.

It is my proud privilege to complete this thesis under the able guidance and supervision of my learned teacher Dr. Md. Abdus Salam, Associate Professor in Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh. I express my deep sense of gratitude and heartfelt thanks to him for his constructive and valuable suggestions and guidance, efforts and inspirations in completing this research work. Words are inadequate to express my great respect for him for his immense support during the period of my study. It gives me immense pleasure to hold him in high regard.

I would like to express sincere thank to Prof. Abdul Wahab, my respected teacher and Chairman, Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, whose vast and profound scholarship has always been a source of inspiration for me. He has always been encouraging as well as enlightening me to complete my research work.

I would like to express my profound gratitude to all the faculty members of the Department of Economics, AMU Aligarh for their inspiration to undertake this research work and also for their guidance during my course work.

I would also like to thank Mr. Aqeel Ahmad and other office staffs in the Department of Economics for their support and constant encouragement for the early submission of my thesis.

I am also very thankful to my friends and companions Izhar Alam, Tausif Ahmad, Shahid Jamal, Hannan, Manzur Ahmad, Saquib, Kamran Ghani, Zia, Nafees Ahmad, Zafar, Imran Jawed, Md Ali, Rehan and Rizwan for constant encouragement and support to complete the thesis.

The acknowledgement would be incomplete if I do not express gratefulness to my father, mother and other family members who wanted to see me educated at any cost. I would also like to thank my wife who has unwaveringly supported me all along. I am sincerely thankful to all of them for their support, sacrifice, caring for me and showing so much patience for so long at the cost of their happiness.

Md. Rais Ahmad
