INDEX

Chapter 1: ................................................................................................. 1-46

Introduction.

Chapter 2: ................................................................................................. 47-106

Arsenic Contamination of The Environment: A New perspective from central-east India.

Chapter 3: ................................................................................................. 107-130

Sampling and Preservation Artifacts in Arsenic Analysis and their Implication for Public Health Issues in developing countries.

Chapter 4: ................................................................................................. 131-194

Arsenic poisoning in Central-East Indian Locations: Manifestation of health impacts, biochemical monitoring and epidemiology of arsenicosis.

Chapter 5: ................................................................................................. 195-229

Arsenic removal from drinking water using natural coagulants.

Appendix: List of publications