PREFACE

I own a never-ending debt of gratitude to my adored and worshipful god for his grace and blessing in the completion of this dissertation.

The main stimulation for undertaking the study was the desire to explore the Positive Self, but a final touch was given by Dr. Nov Rattan Sharma, whose scholarly guidance helped me throughout and sustained my interest in the study. My intellectual debt on him is gratefully acknowledged and I welcome this opportunity to record my heartfelt gratitude and sincere thanks to him for his valuable suggestion, able guidance and encouragement at every stage of not only this work but also at every stage of my academic career.

I express my sincere thanks and gratitude to all the teachers of the Department of psychology, M. D. University, Rohtak for their support and co-operation.

I am very thankful to my sisters and friends, for their cooperation in data collection and the technical staff of the psychology laboratory of M. D University for their assistance and co-operation.
I am highly grateful to the library staff of the university for their cooperation in providing me access to the pertinent literature both printed as well as electronic through internet facility.

In the last but not the least respondents who provided data for this study also deserve my sincere thanks for their cooperation.
