Acknowledgements

At the outset, I would like to thank my supervisor Professor K. Narayana Chandran who readily agreed to supervise my doctoral dissertation. His guidance throughout the last five and a half years and his suggestions, corrections and ideas have helped me greatly to finish this study. I am thankful for his commitment, care, and concern and above all for the great amount of patience and compassion that he has put in to see this dissertation through.

I am also grateful to Professor M. N. V. Prasad (Department of Plant Sciences, School of Life Sciences) and Professor Sheela Prasad (The Centre for Regional Studies), my doctoral committee members, for their valuable comments, suggestions and for lending me books and other research material.

It is my pleasure to thank the Head of the Centre, Professor Tutun Mukherjee, for her inspiring words and for all the support and encouragement that she has extended.

My thanks are also to Dr. M. T. Ansari and Dr. Sowmya Dechamma, Centre for Comparative Literature, for sharing their thoughts on this work and for their company.

I am also grateful to Professor Probal Dasgupta and Professor Sudhakar Marathe (former Deans, School of Humanities) for their care and concern. I thank the UPE programme of the University of Hyderabad for funding my study during 2005-2006. I also thank the UGC for its fellowship under the JRF scheme that supported my research.

I also extend my thanks to the various libraries, institutes and archives that I visited during the course of my research: IGML, University of Hyderabad; Ramesh Mohan library, EFLU; ASRC, Hyderabad; Kerala Sahithya Akademi Library, Thrissur;
Kerala Study Centre, Thiruvananthapuram; Appan Tampuran Library, Thrissur; IRTC (the KSSP’s documentation centre), Palakkadu; Parisara Kendram, Thrissur; AKG Study Centre, Thiruvananthapuram; NV Memorial Trust, Kottakal; Tunchan Library, Tirur; Libraries of the University of Calicut, University of Kerala and of Sanskrit University; press archives of the Mathrubhoomi, Madhyamam, Desaabhimaani, and Sasthragathi; and media centre, Calicut.

I have enormously benefited from my interaction with activists such as R. K. Remesh, John C. Jacob, Sugathakumari, M. K. Prasad, C. R. Rajagopal and Sreedevi Mohan. I also thank Professor K. Ayyappa Paniker, K. C. Narayanan, Professor M. N. Karassery, Professor Venugopala Paniker, B. Krishna Kumar (Athmaraman), Professor Vishnu Narayanan Namboothiri, Professor K. V. Ramakrishnan, Dr. Shamshad Hussain, Professor K. Sreedharan, Dr. Murali Shiva Ramakrishnan, Professor Scot Slovic, Professor C. T. Indira, Professor Meenakshi Mukherjee, Professor Makarand Paranjpe, and Justice Sukumaran for sharing their insights with me. I would like to especially thank Professor K. V. Ramakrishnan, R. K. Remesh and Dr. Shamshad Hussain for allowing me access to their personal libraries and archives.

It is with great pleasure that I recall my early days in the University of Hyderabad. I sincerely thank Dr. Chitra Panikkar and Dr. Shivaram Padikkal for their concern and assistance during those days.

My heartfelt thanks to Sreenivas, our former office staff, for his brotherly affection and his timely advice and interventions saved me a lot of hassle.

The office staff of the Centre for Comparative Literature and the Department of English—Balraj, Rajani, Ganesh and Nagaraj—were always cooperative.

I am extremely greatful to Dr. V. J. Varghese and N. P. Ashley for sharing their thoughts on the topic and their suggestions. My special thanks to Ashley for lending me books and other material. I have fond memories of a trip to Silent Valley with him.

This thesis would not have been possible without the numerous trips to various institutes, libraries and archives. It is with great pleasure and gratitude that I acknowledge the service of Junoob, Said Alavi, Majeed, Sajiv, Praveen, Yunus, Saju, and Sreenath who accompanied me to various places throughout Kerala.

I am extremely grateful to Ajith and Sudheendran for their constant companionship, enthusiastic help and unfailing loyalty all through our life on campus.

Viju, Ashley, and Jafar filled my stay at Taranaka with bliss and mirth. Thanks for those unforgettable Saturday nights. I have also benefited a lot from my association with INLAS.

Thanks, Sambit Malik for making me feel I am worth something.

I would also like to thank Dinesh, Azhar, Anver, Siraj, Rajesh, Abhilash, Shinto, Joji, Pradeep, Biju, Santhosh, Jobin, Aswathy, Reem, Faslu, Shamsu, Shamly, Hasnat, hashik, Muneer, Yazir, Arvind and Jesmila for their constant support and friendship that made my campus life enterprising.

Above all, it is the inexhaustible stores of affection of my family and their firm backing that sustained me all through my research. Amma, Acchan, Rajeev, Resmi and Prasad have always been there to tell me I could do it. Thanks for the faith in me.

It is to the light of hope and confidence thrown by amma and achan in my way that I dedicate this dissertation…

Rohith P