ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I deem it my duty to acknowledge the help I have received from several distinguished people during the course of my research work.

At the outset, I gratefully acknowledge the able guidance, constructive suggestions and persistent encouragement I received from my guide Dr. K. C. Sankaranarayanan, Professor & Head of the Department of Applied Economics, Cochin University of Science And Technology, Kochi. He was always willing to help me whenever I needed guidance on various aspects of material collection, thesis writing and data analysis and to enlighten me on the economic principles related to my subject. I sincerely thank him for the interest he showed in my work and all the help I received during the course of this study. I also acknowledge with gratitude the help received from Dr. M. K. Sukumaran Nair, Reader, Department of Applied Economics, Cochin University of Science and Technology.

I have received considerable support and help from a number of officers of the Cochin Refineries Limited, Ambalamukal, from where I could collect invaluable research material. I am particularly grateful to Mr. K. L. Kumar, Chairman and Managing Director who was also kind enough to answer my questionnaire and clarify my doubts.
I acknowledge the help I received from Dr. Vijay Kelkar, Secretary, Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas and the officers of the Ministry, without whose help I would not have had access to several Government reports and other documents I have used in writing this thesis. I have also received encouraging response from officers of the Oil Coordination Committee, ONGC, Madras Refineries Ltd and Engineers India Ltd whenever I approached them for collecting reference material. Some of them also helped by answering the questionnaire. Mr. Christie Fernandez, the then Director, MOP & NG, Mr. Subir Raha, Executive Director, OCC, Mr. A. K. Bhide, Director (Finance), OCC. Mr. Probir Sengupta, then with the Tata Energy Research Institute, Prof. K. B. Nair of the Centre for Energy Management, Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, Mrs. Vani Subrahmaniam of the Arya Offshore Services, New Delhi, Mr. A. Thothathri Raman of Business India and Dr. Avinash Chandra, Director General, Hydrocarbons are some of the distinguished persons I wish to thank for their help.

I gratefully acknowledge the assistance provided by Mr. R. S. Kanade, Joint Adviser, Economic and Statistical Division, Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas, in collecting voluminous statistical data pertaining to various aspects of petroleum industry.

I am deeply indebted to Mr. M. Rajagopalan Nair, Joint Director, Lok Sabha Secretariat and his staff who helped me in collecting a large portion of the literature from the Parliament Library. My thanks are also due to the librarians and staff of the libraries of the Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, Cochin Refineries Ltd., Madras Refineries Ltd., Engineers India Ltd., Association of Indian Universities, Tata Energy Research Institute, the Cochin University of Science and Technology and the Department of Applied Economics, Cochin University of Science and Technology.

I gratefully acknowledge the fact that I would not have been able to complete my work but for the patience and understanding shown by my wife Padmaja and our children. I also wish to thank my employers, the Government of Haryana and the management of Cochin Refineries Ltd. for giving me permission to carry out the research work in my spare time.
