APPENDIX-I

PROBLEM SOLVING SKILL TEST

1. One of your friends who is not interested in studying comes daily and ask you to join for playing during the study time, fixed by your mother. If you go, your mother will punish you, and if you don’t go, your friend will feel bad. What will you do in such a situation?

2. On Monday morning, your teacher announced a surprise test in the class. Nobody studied anything and hence everybody decided to copy. Copying is a sin according to your religious belief. But without copying you will fail. What will be your decision at that time?

3. You have committed yourself to give some money for the picnic your gang had planned. Your father did not support or give approval for it. So the only way to keep the promise with your gang is to steal money from your mother’s valet. You know that stealing is an offence, but to maintain your self esteem, giving money is essential. How will you deal the situation?

4. You and your brother have broken a costlier ceramic dish placed on the table while playing with a ball inside your house. You know when your mother comes, she will give you scolding. You are afraid of her scolding. So your brother told to say a lie that it is the cat that destroyed the dish to escape from the situation. But you know, telling lie is a bad habit. How can you deal this situation?
