ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

With the great sense of indebtedness and appreciation I wish to express my gratitude to Dr. A. B. Vora, Professor and Head, Botany Department, and the Research Guide. His benevolent supervision, and wise and critical comments have remained crucial in consummation of this work. I also thank him for providing the necessary research facilities.

I am highly thankful to Faculty Members Dr. O. P. Saxena and Dr. (Miss) Alka V. Vyas for their interest and invaluable suggestions during the tenure of my research work.

I was very fortunate in having exceptional and invaluable cooperation from the fellow colleagues Nagoor Sheik, Arundhati Chakraborty, Gira Raval, Trupti Dave, and Saroj Chaurasiya, who have all contributed in many ways and who have prepared the ground for the development of my research work in friendly and congenial atmosphere.

I am grateful to Ashvin Thanki and Keyur Patel for their enthusiastic and efficient cooperation in the production of this thesis.

Due credit must also be given to my mother and other family members, whose sincere goodwill and wishes were the source of inspiration in my academic carrier. This work would have remained incomplete without the unfailing support and suggestions from my wife, Hetal Raval. I thank my young son, Ishan, for not making the things complicated!

Most of all, my warm thanks to Ashvin and Neeta Thanki, who performed the countless task that went into the preparing the manuscript.

When all is said and done, there remains a debt to be paid - a debt in terms of gratitude - to all those, known and unknown, who helped me in the completion of this work.
