Acknowledgments

I owe this study to many people in this world. Suguna Ramanathan has been a wonderful guide, the freedom and help she provided made it possible for me to finish this project in time. Fr. Vincent Braganza provided a cushion of psychological and economic support. My invaluable friends at St. Xavier's, Francis Parmar S.J, Sarvar Sherrychand and Rohini Mokashi-Puneker put up with my bad moods and anxieties. I am particularly thankful to Sarvar for editing this study. I am also thankful to Bholabhai Patel, Niranjan Bhagat and G.N.Devy for suggesting sources of material. Shama Futehally in Delhi, Mini Krishnan in Chennai and Vaidehi Ramanathan in the United States were always willing to provide any kind of help.

The inspiration and support of my family in Ahmedabad and Bombay, my parents Laxmandas Makhija and Kamla Makhija, my in-laws Tarun Kothari and Geeta Kothari, Ba, Geeta and Pradip Vakil can be acknowledged only in silent, wordless ways. Shuchi Kothari and Nabeel Zuberi have given untiring feedback and encouragement. My daughter Shamini has been an angel, as she found other means and people to play with while I tapped away at the computer. As for Abhijit, he alone knows what I owe him.

RK