ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is with a feeling of happiness and gratitude on having finished successfully this arduous but stimulating task, I thank God for having sustained me throughout.

I am grateful to the authority of Bharthidasan University, for having given me an opportunity to undergo the Ph.D. programme.

My sincere thanks are due to the Management, Cauvery College for Women and Dr. V. Sujatha, M.Com., M.Phil., Ph.D., Principal, Cauvery College for Women, Trichy, for having permitted me to undergo the course in the Department of Commerce.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my learned and beloved supervisor and Guide Dr. V. Gomathi, M.Com., M.Phil., Ph.D., Head, Department of Commerce, Cauvery College for Women, Trichy, without whose guidance, encouragement, supervision and moral support, this work would not have been possible. She has been the prime personality in providing me all possible assistance at every stage by sparing much of her precious time. The present study is an inevitable outcome of her valuable comments. Her role will remain a source of enduring inspiration throughout my life.

I owe my sincere thanks to Prof. M.V. Radhamoney, M.A., Principal, Bharathiyar Arts and Science College for Women, for her accelerating drive and motivational support to aim always for excellence in my endeavour.

I am thankful to Dr. M. Shanmugavadivel, Associate professor Department of Statistics, St. Joseph’s College, Trichy, and Mr. A. Sakthivel, M.A., M.Phil., HDCM., Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, Selvam Arts and Science College, Namakkal for the remarkable help, they have rendered in the application of statistical tools.
My special indebtedness to Prof. P.T. Krishnakumar, M.A., for his timely assistance in going through the draft thesis and for the constructive suggestions given, all along the way.

I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to my parents, brothers and my husband Mr. J. Lenin, M.A., B.L., for their contribution in the completion of the thesis. Without their encouragement and help, this work would not have been completed. I would like to express my special thanks to my daughter L. Kowshika, for her patience and co-operation.

I am thankful to Mr. A. Manimurugan, M.Com., M.Phil., Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce, Kings College of Arts and Science, Namakkal for the kind help and encouragement, during the course of my work.

I express my thanks to the Entrepreneurs of Attur and Gangavalli Taluk, Salem district, who co-operated with me for probing questions. I am grateful to Mr. Manickam, Accounts Officer and Mr. Ganesan, Sago Serve for providing valuable information pertaining to the study.

I hereby acknowledge with gratitude the Golden Net Computers, Trichy, for the neat execution and the sincere and timely help in getting this work printed out.

It is not possible to thank every one who helped me for the completion of this study individually. Hence I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to all who assisted me in some way or other in the completion of this study.

D. Rajakumari