ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

The author wishes to express his grateful appreciation to Dr. H. D. Badami under whose guidance this study was carried out. He has proved to be most generous with his time, amazingly patient and encouraging at just the right moment.

Thanks are also due to the Principals and Headmasters and Headmistresses of the Colleges and Schools who extended their fullest cooperation by providing necessary facilities in this study.

The author extends his thanks to the pupils without whose cooperation the present work would not have seen the light of the day.

A word of appreciation and thanks is also extended to the learned experts who gracefully responded to the request of the author and sent their suggestions and opinions on certain research points and contributed to this study in time, effort, knowledge and encouragement.
