ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Working on a Ph.D. and writing a thesis is certainly a formidable endeavour. However, the last four years have been very enjoyable and a number of people have helped me reach this point. Today at this juncture, when I earned the crop of my valuable and hard worked four years in the form of my dissertation work, I feel on the top. This span has filled me with a never-ending stream of knowledge which otherwise not possible with the help of the few who have changed my direction and thoughts for the subject. Revising the memories, I feel my self a part of this advancing world of knowledge. The selfless help of few, without which I would not have been able to complete this dissertation project, has let me to write this front page of my thesis, which I can truly call as "my page", where I am able to express my regards for them.

Words cannot express my deep sense of gratitude for my guide and mentor Dr. M. T. Chhabna, Assistant Professor, Department of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, L. M. College of Pharmacy, Ahmedabad, whose deep sharing and synergy have moved me many levels beyond my own thinking. The high standards and expectations set by him always urged me to strive harder and perform the best. This gave me a lot of freedom and space to work efficiently. I am grateful to him for his untiring encouragement, valuable advises, constructive criticisms and timely attention during the entire course of my project work. Without his help and co-operation, I would perhaps not have been able to handle the subject with this clarity that has emerged in the form of present work.

I convey my sincere gratitude to Dr. B. N. Shukagna, Professor and Head, Department of pharmaceutical Chemistry and quality Control, L. M. College of Pharmacy, Ahmedabad and for his positive approach for me.
Mr. I. S. Rathod, Assistant Professor, Department of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, L. M. College of Pharmacy, Ahmedabad is a realistic man. I especially thank him for his valuable encouragement and precious advice that further increased my 'Deadly' interest in chemistry to make it 'Lively'. It is his realistic inspiration that has enabled me to crush the roots of the obstacles in my fight. I am really thankful to him for his constructive criticisms, selfless help and jolly nature that has enabled me to complete my dissertation project perfectly.

I thank Dr. M. C. Gohel, Principal, L. M. College of Pharmacy, Ahmedabad, for providing me the facilities required for my research work in this college.

I want to thank Rajubhai, Shahbhai, and other staff of the laboratory for their help during my project work.

I also wish to thank Sanjaybhai, Bharatbhai, Ashwmbbhai, Joshibaka and the library staff for providing me timely library facilities.

My thesis would not have been completed without the help of my colleagues, Shaily Patel, Pathik Brahmakshtryya, Vishranti Shah and Bhusan Mahajan who constantly helped me to draw exact results to reach the final conclusion and improve the way of expressing the results.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Dr. K. M. Bhat, Dr. Vimal Kumar, Dr. K. I. Molvi, Dr. A. K. Gajjar and Dr. T. J. Shah for their valuable suggestions and constant encouragement during the course of this work.

I thank Dr. Urush Shah, B. J. Medical College, Ahmedabad for providing me the facilities for the antimycobacterial screening of my compounds and providing the results with time.

It would be unfair on my part if I fail to express my deep sense of gratitude for Dr. G. B. Shah, Principal, K. B. Institute of Pharmaceutical Education and Research, Gandhinagar who always encouraged me to achieve my goals.
I wish to express my sincere thanks to the whole KIFPER Family where I got support and motivation in tough times. The cooperation and encouragement provided by Ms. Pragna Shelat, Dr. Priti Trivedi, Dr. S. S. Deshpande, Mr. Dvyanag Dave, Hitesh Dodiya, Vandit Trivedi, Dvyesh Shashtri, and Pratik Oza is highly acknowledged.

I wish to express my love and affection for my ex-colleagues Jagdish Baheti, Samir Shah, Sanyev Acharya and Vijay Parmar for their immense moral support and sharing sorrows. It is their presence that has helped me to complete my research project within time. It was a nice experience to work as a team.

I also thank Central Drug and Research Institute, Lucknow, Punjab University and SICART, Vallabh Vidyanagar for providing the spectral data within time.

Behind a successful person, there is a wonderful family. I am highly indebted to my family for its constant encouragement and moral support. The support, understanding, sacrifice, affection and care provided by Rupal, my wife, has gone a long way in the successful execution of this research work. I will remain permanently indebted to her for the efforts taken by her for bringing this thesis in its best form.

Last but not the least I thank all of them who directly or indirectly involved in the completion of this work successfully.

Ahmedabad – 09
Mitesh H. Jani
March 2009