ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Writing acknowledgments is an opportunity to pay tributes, to express gratitude, to extend regards and to reciprocate so many helpful gestures - all of which, taken together, is an embodiment of a group of peoples’ keen desire to motivate, to support, to facilitate a researcher towards his goal – the goal of making him enlightened with new knowledge by way of sharing theirs.

My deepest sense of gratitude goes to Dr. Bharti V Pathak, Reader, Gujarat University and my guide in this research. Always encouraging, always tolerant, always affectionate, always supportive, always absorbing, always creative and always ready to navigate, she is the person who looms large on my mind space.

Prof. Shashi Sharma, an eminent academician and a creative thinker, and in whom I found a friend and philosopher, always held a candle to navigate on the circle and complex curvatures of the road of this research, which was dimly lighted. During the analysis part, when I was stuck, Prof. Sharma would come to my rescue with his characteristics calmness, reassuring gesture and creative suggestions and guidance. I am grateful to Prof. Shashi Sharma for his support and navigation which was crucial.

I have no expression to appreciate support, encouragement, knowledge and facilitation provided by Mr. Rajesh Kishore, an officer from the Indian Administrative Services and CEO of GSDMA, Government of Gujarat. My study visit to the Office of Emergency Services, California State (USA) could be made possible because of his providing appropriate reference to the Governor of California, USA. Mr. Kishore was instrumental in bringing clarity to my understanding of the “past and present status” of the Gujarat State Disaster Management system. I am grateful to Mr. Rajesh Kishore for his spirited and continued support.

In my journey, I met so many Government officers who were kind enough to provide critical insights about relevant domain areas. Mr. C. K. Koshi(IAS), Mr. Sujeet
Gulati (IAS), Mr. Sanjay Gupta (IAS), Mr. K. Srinivas (IAS), Mr. Pradeep Sharma, Mr. Y.J. Dixit (IAS-retd), Mr. Jagdish Pandya (GAS), Mr. Mukesh Megha (GAS), Mr. S.K. Pandya (GAS), Mr. Bipin Bhatt (GAS), Mr. R.S. Ninama (GAS), Sanjay Joshi ... the list is indeed a long one and it would be impractical to recount each and every name. I am grateful to these state government officers for their assistance in not only collecting data but also providing critical inputs on the domain. My gratitude to them is immense.

Back at home, I admire the tolerance shown by my wife Dr. Hasu. I have no words to appreciate my daughter Vishakha, not only for her forbearance but also for her sacrifice when she gave me her study room in our small town-house in a Chicago suburb. She knew what to do when I was in my study. My brother, Dr. Amar Dave, MD, FAAP, was always a source of perpetual inspiration and confidence. He was always present and willing to take care of my family during my frequent visits to India for research work. In the absence of the very supportive role of my family members, the work would not have been completed at all.

I would fail in my duty if I do not place on record my gratitude and thankfulness to His Excellency the Governor of California state, for facilitating my visit to OES establishment and for the open-hearted cooperation of the OES officials, including Dr. James D. Goltz and Mr. Mark Johnson, who personally attended to my queries and introduced me in depth to the California state emergency and disaster response system.

Last but not the least, I thank all the respondents whom I do not know personally, but who spared time to fill up the questionnaires which provided a critical source of information for the research.

RoopKishan Sohan Lal Dave

30th September, 2008
Ahmedabad, Gujarat, India