REFERENCES
REFERENCES

J. Affect. Disord. 29, 17-25.

Matuszek, Patricia A.C.; Nelson, Debra L. and Quick, James Campbell (1995) : Gender differences in distress; Are we asking all the right question? Special Issue : Gender in the work place. Journal of Social Behaviour and Personality.

Clinical Medicine, General Biology and Agriculture” (D.K. Hayes, J.A. Pauly and R.J. Reiter, eds), 57-63, New York: Wiley Liss.

Ergonomics, 30, 1235-1247.

Mott, P.E.; Mann, F.C.; McLoughlin, Q.; Wancowick, D.P. (1965):

Mott, P.I. (1972): The characteristics of effective organization.

* Supervisor

* Supervisor

Rozenthal, J. and Linder, E. (1982) : A study of single career and dual career workers. Dissertation Abstract International, October, 174-182.

Rutenfranz, J. (1982) : Occupational health measures for night and shift workers. J.Hum.Ergol. 11, 67-86.

research issues. In "Biological Rhythms. Sleep and work
(L.C. Johnson, D.I. Tepas and Colquhoun, eds.) 165-196, Spectrum, New York.

Sahu, S. and Helode, R.D.* (1989) : Productivity as function of organizational climate, locus of control and length of service.
Unpublished M.Phil. Dissertation, R.S. University Teaching Department, Raipur.

* Supervisor

Schuler (1980) : Definition and conceptualization of stress in organizations. Organizational Behaviour and Human

Student (1927) : Errors of routine analysis, Biometrica, 19, 151-164.

