I was fortunate enough to have an opportunity to work under the guidance of Dr. (Miss) C.L. Bhatt, Reader in Education, Gujarat University, Ahmedabad. Without her help, this work could not have been possible and I am deeply indebted to her for her timely valuable guidance and parental care and also for her deep insight and critical outlook with positive attitude.

My special thanks are due to Dr. S.G. Desai, Director, School of Psychology, Education and Philosophy, Gujarat University, Ahmedabad through whose guidance, I could get Teacher Fellowship from UGC which made my this research work less burdensome to me financially. In this respect, I am also grateful to Dr. K.C. Bhatt, Principal, Shri Rang Shikshan Mahavidyalaya, Bilimora who kindly permitted me to take up this teacher fellowship and granted me the necessary leave.

My thanks are particularly due to the staff of State Resource Centre, Gujarat Vidyapith, Ahmedabad and Adult Education office of Sanand Taluka. It was through them that the data and the records were made available for my work.
I am also indebted to all the adult education classes of Sanand Taluka, from where the entire sample was drawn. But for the co-operation extended and the facilities provided by them, this work would not have been the light of the day.

I owe my loving thanks to all the 425 adult cases who confided in me without hesitation or reluctance. It need not be said that the reasons for leaving the class or continuing in the class, narrated by them is the most valuable part of this work without which this research would have been a body without soul.

I express my hearty thanks to Dr. J.K. Shah, Reader in Education, Gujarat University and Dr. R.P. Shah, Reader in Education, Gujarat Vidyapith and my colleagues Dr. J.N. Adefara and Dr. P.T. Gilitwala for their co-operation and valuable suggestions.

Finally, I have no words to express my deepest sense and feeling of gratitude to my parents who has always been a perennial source of inspiration, encouragement and guidance.

I am sure that this research work will be useful in one way or the other to those who are interested in adult education.
