ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, I owe an inestimable debt of gratitude to my advisor Dr. K. P. R. Vittal Murty, for his kindness in allowing me for introducing the present topic and for his inspiring guidance, patience, constructive criticism, immense knowledge and valuable suggestions throughout this work. I am sincerely thankful to him for his able guidance and pain taking effort in improving my understanding of this work. Without his encouragement and guidance, this work would not have materialized. I am grateful to him for holding me to a high research standard and enforcing strict validations for each research result and thus teaching me how to do research.

I sincerely thank Dr. A.V.V.S. Swami Head of the Department and Dr. P. Brahmaji Rao, Senior faculty Members, Department of Environmental Science, Acharya Nagarjuna University for their elderly and enthusiastic co-operation throughout the period of my study. It is with immense gratitude that I acknowledge the support and help of Dr. M.V. Subrahmanym, Associate Prof, Marine science Department, Zhejiang Ocean University, China, for taking up the responsibility of shaping up the final copy. I can’t say thank you enough for his tremendous support and help.

I would like to express my heart-felt gratitude to my family. Most importantly, none of this would have been possible without the love and patience of my family. I cannot find words to express my special thanks to my beloved mother B. Jagadambha and my brothers for their continuous encouragement. I am also indebted to many other friends and well-wishers. Though only my name appears on the cover of this dissertation, a great many people have contributed to its production. I owe my gratitude to all those people who have made this dissertation possible and because of whom I will cherish forever. Many friends have helped me stay sane through these difficult years. Their support and care helped me overcome setbacks and stay focused on my work. I greatly value their friendship and I deeply appreciate their belief in me.

Pushpanjali Basavani