It is with a sense of satisfaction that I have completed my research work and place on record my heartfelt gratitude to a galaxy of distinguished erudites who have helped me in some form or other for its successful completion.

The pride of place in the galaxy flashes towards my beloved and revered supervisor Prof. K. Munidoraswamy Naidu, Department of Economics, S.V. University, Tirupati. His unstinted co-operation, free and affectionate attitude are values to be experienced rather than explained. Hence, words are inadequate to express my gratitude to him for his invaluable help.

I am highly indebted to Prof. V. Sathyanarayana Murthy, Department of Commerce, S.V. University, Tirupati for having gone through the manuscript meticulously and for having offered concrete suggestions at appropriate context and in whom I have become one.

I am equally bound to express my heartfelt thanks to Prof. G. Raghava Reddy, Special Officer, S.V.U.P.G. Centre, Kavali and Vice-President, Indian Economic Association, for the help, interest evinced and the valuable comments, which ultimately gave a good shape to my work.
I thank Prof. V. Tirupati Naidu, Department of Rural Development, S.K. University, Anantapur for his encouragement and fatherly affection.

I owe my gratitude to Dr. M. Munirami Reddy, Reader and Head, Department of Commerce, S.V. University, Tirupati for his kind perusal of my work and constructive suggestions.

I express my sense of gratitude to Dr. K. Subbaraya Sharma, Department of Statistics, S.V. University, Tirupati for his valuable suggestions in statistical computations.

I am also thankful to Dr. K. Narasimhulu, Reader and Head, Department of Economics, S.V. University, Tirupati for his co-operation.

I thank Mr. T. Govindarajulu, Retired, Assistant Head Master, B.Z. High School, Chittoor for his solace at movements of frustration.

I remain highly indebted to International Labour Office, Geneva and Food Research Institute, Stanford University, which have supplied all relevant and necessary literature periodically which were highly useful for my study.

I express my grateful thanks to various writers whose valuable contributions are made use of in the body of text and acknowledged in the foot notes as well as in the bibliography.
I wish to express my deep sense of appreciation to Mr. M.V.S. Prasad of the Office of the Assistant Director of Planning and Statistics, Mr. T. Mohan of the office of the Deputy Director of Agriculture and also to the Statisticians of the Mandal Offices of Thavanampalle, Irala, Karvet Nagar, Tirupati (Rural, Srikalahasti and Thottambedu for providing necessary information related to my study.

I am thankful to the authorities of S.V. University for providing me the research facilities.

I remember with special gratitude to the courtesy shown by the villagers who have patiently furnished data at the time of field study.

I express my gratitude to the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR), UGC Special Assistance Programme, Department of Economics, S.V. University and Government of Andhra Pradesh which have shared the financial expenditure to some extent in completing this work.

I express my thanks to the Librarian and the Staff of S.V. University, for placing at my disposal the necessary books, journals and reports.

I remember S.V. Computers, Tirupati for its service which made the statistical computations easy.
As a matter of fact I stand bound to Ms. Sunanda, but for whose visible and invisible support and sacrifice, the present work could not have seen the light of the day.

I am highly grateful to my friends M/s. S. Khaleel Sahib, K. Ramesh Babu, J.V. Ramana and J. Srinivasa Kumar for their continued inducement to pursue my research work.

I thank my colleagues Dr. L. Redseppa and Mr. G. Chandrasekhar who have rendered their assistance for drawing figures and collecting primary data respectively.

I am here propelled to express my deep satisfaction and joy to the family of Prof. V. Sathyanarayana Murthy for their hospitality, affection and love.

I cannot forget to thank my parents who have shared the pleasure and pain with me through thick and thin.

Finally I am beholden to Mr. G. Guruprasad, Typist, Pre Examination Training Centre for Weaker Sections, S.V. University, Tirupati for typing this work neatly and Dr. K. Saiprasad for drawing figures fascinatingly.
