ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First & Foremost, I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks and indebtedness to my research guide & mentor Dr. K.S.Chandrasekar, Dean, Department of Management Studies, University of Kerala, Professor& Head, Institute of Management In Kerala, University of Kerala, for his valuable inputs, point to point criticisms, profound suggestions, constant inspiration, and more over his overall untiring guidance for the fulfilment of my research work. Without his able and patient promptings and guidance, this work would not have been completed like this. I recall with immense gratitude for his whole hearted support, patience and encouragement throughout my research period.

Equally important was the grateful support extended to me by Prof.(Dr.) Ramanakumar K.P.V, Director, (MBA) & Dean (R&D), Sree Chandrasekharendra Saraswathy Viswa Maha Vidyalaya, Enathur, Kanchipuram. Over the years, my interactions with him brought to the evolution of many ideas related to the topic of study. I have carefully watched and learned from him about the stress management practices that his good self was following and he has been truly “with me” throughout this study. I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude to my motivator and mentor Prof.(Dr.)Ramanakumar & family for all the support extended to me for successful completion of this work.

It is my pleasant duty to express my hearty gratitude to all the Managers in the H.R Department of various companies in Technopark, Trivandrum, Kerala for adequate support and guidance extended to me and also for contributing their valuable suggestions in the research work at every stage.

I am grateful to many people for their contributions in stress management. Some of them have influenced me during the course of study through their research and writing. Some of them are the late Hans Selye, Kenneth Cooper & Richard Lazarus. The names of others have been mentioned in appropriate chapters.

I express my profound thanks to Shri.V.Ramanathan, Asst.Professor, SCSVMV , and all the administrative staff members of SCSVMV, Enathur Kanchipuram for their most valuable support and encouragement for completing my research work.
My interactions with many yoga practitioners, swamis & gurus, counsellors, former students, have been rewarding and instructive. The ideas of my colleagues, which especially includes my fellow faculty members at SCSVMV, Kanchipuram and at University of Kerala, Institute of Management in Kerala have sharpened my awareness of the positive and negative features of stress, which techniques seems to be most effective and what the personal change process is really like. I should thank them all for the valuable support and guidance extended to me by them during this juncture.

I take this opportunity to register my sincere thanks and gratitude to Shri. Radhakrishnan G, Teacher, Govt. H.S.S, Thodiyoor, Karunagappally, Kerala, for his valuable support and guidance in statistical analysis for timely completing my research work.

I am sincerely thankful to Ms. Suma S.R, Senior lecturer at Institute of Management in Kerala, University of Kerala, for her valuable advices, encouragement and support for timely completing my research. Her ideas and support have been invaluable to formulate and present my ideas coherently and usefully.

Equally important was the support extended to me by Ms. Soumya C Nair, Lecturer, University of Kerala, IMK Adoor for being a source of motivation and also in getting and compiling the materials related to the topic of study.

I am grateful to all my teachers who have lighted the torch of edification and wisdom that helped me to reach here. I bend my head in respect towards them.

My sincere thanks are also due to the following people - Librarian of IMK- University of Kerala, Mr. Nishand Zachariah, Librarian - IMK, Adoor, Librarian – The Quilon Public Library & Research Centre, Kollam, Librarian – SCSVMV, Kanchipuram, Mr. Aravind M, Former Lecturer, IMK, Adoor, for their constant support and encouragement and also in providing me with materials with respect to this study.

I am sincerely thankful to Mr. Mithun K M for supporting me to complete the data collection process.
In this juncture, I remember the support extended by Mr. Arun Mohan & Mr. Vigil.V, MBA students of IMK Adoor by providing me with all internet facilities and also for the technical support rendered.

My parents have been a strong source of motivation in completing this study on stress management. They were subtly and finely reminding me about the importance of the work when I was delaying the work stating one or the other reason. I profoundly thank my father Shri. C.P. Gopalakrishna Pillai, my mother Smt. K. Gnanambika Devi and my brother Dr. Ajithkrishnan. C.G who had always encouraged me and wished success in this endeavour.

Finally, Swapna D. Aniyar, my wife, has been a source of ideas, caring, energy and good humour throughout this project. She has been most patient during my many days at the key board, she has also helped me to avoid unnecessary language in my writing after reading the entire manuscript. To her I am grateful of all.

My best friend, my son Master M.S. Adithyanadan has helped me from relieving the stress which I have experienced during the course of this work. He has supported me in all ways that a 7th standard student could do. This work is dedicated to him.

Last but not the least, I am thankful to god!
