ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The completion of work of this nature is not possible without the involvement and valued contributions from a number of persons. Firstly, I profusely thank my guide Professor G. Anjaneya Swamy, Ph.D., Director, Directorate of Distance Education, Pondicherry University for giving me an opportunity to do research under him. He has been always forthcoming with his creative ideas and thoughts. His support and motivation from the beginning to the thesis submission in all the activities such as framing the research problem, designing the questionnaire, conducting the study, analysis, and thesis writing is immense. I value his kind heartedness, benevolence and humbleness. I am indebted to him.

I thank my doctoral committee members Professor R. Prabhakara Raya, Head of the Department, Department of Management Studies, Pondicherry University and Professor K. Chandra Sekhara Rao, Head of the Department, Department of Banking Technology, Pondicherry University for their wholehearted support, insights and help in carrying out the research study. I am grateful to them for spending their valuable time with me in moulding and completing the research study.

I thank all the faculty members and other staff of School of Management Studies, Pondicherry University for their help and support.

Also, I thank Dr. M R Shollapur, Director, Post Graduate Department of Management Studies, Siddaganga Institute of Technology, Tumkur for all his help and support.

I am grateful to my wife and my sons for their patience all along the period of study.

I thank my students of Post Graduate Department of Management Studies, Siddaganga Institute of Technology, Tumkur, Mrs. Nayana, Mr. Vivek Reddy, Mr.Satish G Patil, Mr. Shivaraj Kumar, Mr. Venkatesh and Mr.Shivabasava T, for helping me in data collection. I thank my students Mr.Nagaraj and Mr.Veeresh Malli who were the managers of ‘More’ outlets for collecting the data from their colleagues in ‘More’ and other outlets.

Also, I thank all those who have directly or indirectly helped me in completing the research study.
