ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It has been two years of hard work to include interaction with personalities from various organizations who are involved in internal security management especially in the North Eastern Region of India, visiting libraries, visits to the North East States and thereafter carrying out a detailed research on my topic “Role of the Armed Forces in Internal Security Management in North Eastern States of India (1985 to Present)“.

All of the above has been possible due to the able guidance, critical advice and constant encouragement throughout the research and compilation of the thesis of my supervisor Dr Kamal Kinger, Professor and Head, Department of Defence and Strategic Studies, Punjabi University, Patiala. For this, I am deeply indebted to him. I owe special thanks to Dr. Umrao Singh, Dr. Inderjeet Singh and Dr. Kewal Krishan Assistant Professors in the department of Defence and Strategic Studies for their guidance, constructive criticism and help. I am also immensely grateful to Major General Gaganjit Singh, AVSM (Retd), who has played a major role in the counter insurgency operations in the North East and his experience has been of immense value in my research. Major General N George (Retd), the erstwhile Chairman of the Ceasefire Monitoring Group has been a pillar of support to me, for which I am grateful to him. I would also like to place on record, my sincere gratitude to Commandant R S Jassal (Retd) who retired from Assam Rifles and since then has been a freelance journalist, guest columnist with local dailies of Manipur. He is from Punjab, but has settled in Manipur by virtue of his marriage (s) into the local families. His astute wisdom honed by several decades of ground knowledge of the North east has provided me the insight of the problems prevalent in the region. I am also thankful to Smt. Astinder Kaur and Smt. Renu from the administrative wing of the department for their supportive help.

In addition, I would like to thank the serving officers of the armed forces, central police organisations, state police, and politicians, journalists for sparing their precious time to interact and also discuss the insight realities of the region. They had displayed unlimited patience and professionalism during the interaction.
