

Agarwal, S (1988). ‘A Study of Adjustment problems and their related factors of more effective and less effective Teachers’ (with reference to primary level Female teachers) in Fifth Survey of Educational Research, New Delhi, NCERT.

Asian Journal of Psychology and Education (Quarterly), Agra Psychological Research Cell.

Barrington (1978). “School characteristics and their effects on student’s Achievement in reading.

Ellen V. Piers Dale B. Haris (1947). Self-Concept scale for Research use only”, Pennsylvania State University, U.S.A.

Fedele, K. (2004). Why all students need fine motor skills.

http://www.teachers.net/gazette.

Fifth Survey of Educational Research, National Council of Educational Research and Training Vol. II.

Gene Burton, Manab Thakur, Management today principles and practice, Tata

Goswami, P.K. (1978). ‘A Study of Self-concept of Adolescents and its relationship to scholastic achievement and adjustment’in M.B.Buch (Ed.) third survey of research in Education, New Delhi, NCERT.

several Elementary grades’, New York: Office of Testing and Research, Brooklyn College (Mimco).

Jammur, K.K. (1958). “Study habit and academic achievement”, Psychological studies, Vol.III.
Government Post-Graduate College, Pithrogarh, India.

Jasmine IPE (1980). “A comparison of the study habits prevalent among the IX and XI grades” Dissertation Abstract.

Publications.

Kakkar, S.B. (1978). Intelligence, Curiosity and Achievement, ISPT Journal of Research, In Indian Psychological Abstracts, Sep., 193.

Kakkar, S.B. (1993). Educational psychology, Practice Hall of India Private Limited,
New Delhi.

Private Ltd.

and Motivation among the scheduled caste and Non-scheduled caste students’ in M.B. Buch (Ed.) third Survey of Research in Education, New Delhi, NCERT.

Kamel, Thoraya Farghaly (2003). “Improving the quality of written English of low achievers women’s colleges in Saudi Arabia”. New Frontiers in Education, Vol. XXXIII (2).

anxiety and improving Study Skills on academic achievement of high school girls”.

261
Karthiga. ‘Study Skills of High School Students in relationship with academic achievement’, Madras University.

Kureshi, Afzal (1977). “TAT study of the motives of Hindu and Muslim adolescents”, Aligarh Muslim University, India.

Rebecca (2001). “Measure of Study skills and academic performance among the high school students in different schools”, Madras University.

Sharma, M.C. (1981). ‘A differential study of the Self-conept, personality adjustment values of Teachers at various levels’ in M.B. Buch (Ed.) third Survey of research in education, New Delhi, NCERT.

JOURNALS

REPORTS

REFERENCE ON THE NET

www.edgate Sep-2010
www.edward Oct-2010
www.india.edu.cfs Aug-2010
www.moped.com Nov-2010
www.yahoo.com July-2010
www.google.com Nov-2010
www.exic.ed.gov in May-2010
www.apa.org Sep-2010
www.wikipedia.com Dec-2010
www.chssc.salford.ac.uk Nov-2010
www.askexpert.com
www.ed.gov
www.education.com
www.exitalearn.com
www.icpac.indiana.edu
http://naio.kcc.hawaii.edu
www.studyweb.com
www.teachnet.com
www.unesco.org
www.google.com
www.teachers.net/gazette