Acknowledgements

This study has been supported in many ways by several people. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to each one of them.

To AMMA, whose teachings have been a constant source of inspiration.

To the Medical Director - Dr. Prem Nair, Dean of Research - Dr. Shanti Nair, Superintendent - Dr. Sanjeev Singh and other seniors who have extended their support

To my teacher, Dr C.R. Mukundan, whose unconditional support and wholehearted contributions have given direction and shape to this venture

To Dr. K.A.Kumar who saw me through the initial phase of the project and encouraged me to continue with the work

To Dr Anand Kumar whose concepts and experience helped to enrich and crystallise the ideas expressed here.

To Dr. Sundaram whose clarity and painstaking efforts have helped me improve the quality of the thesis in a tremendous manner.

To Dr C.P. Somasundaram whose quiet support has considerably eased the path to this point

To the Principals of Amrita Vidyalayam, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi, Al Ameen School, Saraswati Vidyaniketan and several others in Kochi who have supported this venture by granting permission, referring children for participation.

To the children who enthusiastically participated in the study and their parents who gave of their time and effort and ensured that no training sessions were missed out.

To innumerable friends, within AIMS and outside, who have egged me on to reach this goal

To my friends and colleagues in the Department, who have pitched in and made sure that I was not otherwise burdened

To my family- parents, sister, in-laws and others whose quiet presence have helped me through many a desperate phase

To my husband and daughter who indulged me in this flight of fantasy and tolerated many an absence from home

And to that omnipresent being whose blessings were often experienced, at moments dark and bleak…
