CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

CHAPTER I

Introduction

Definition of terms - Importance of employees' adjustment - Background of the present research - Comparative aspect of the study - REFERENCES

CHAPTER II

Attitude and Adjustment

Attitudes: Mental & Motor - Determining tendencies - Organic state of readiness - Mental disposition - Frame of reference - Enduring state of readiness - Properties of attitudes

Adjustment: Meanings of the term - Definitions - Characteristics - Criteria - The relationship between attitude and adjustment - REFERENCES

CHAPTER III

Review of some Relevant Studies

Hawthorne studies: Experiments on Illumination - Relay-Assembly-Room Experiments: Pay - Job security - Opportunity for advancement - Supervisor - Working conditions - Fellow workers - Ability to do the work - Type of work - Praise and Reward - Participation - Job status - Home and family - Personality - REFERENCES
CHAPTER - IV

Method and Procedure

Subjective and objective criteria of adjustment - Construction of an Attitude and Adjustment Inventory - Preliminary survey: Split-half reliability coefficient and Analysis - Final Form of the Inventory - Data collection - Scoring - Reliability - Validity - Statistical methods - REFERENCES

CHAPTER - V

Results, Discussion and Interpretation

Employees' adjustment in U.P. Government Roadways and Private Bus Services - Adjustment outside work-situation - Adjustment within work-situation - Job adjustment - Discussion of Results: Adjustment with management - Discussion of Results: Social adjustment - Discussion of Results - Summary of Results - REFERENCES

APPENDIX