ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Primarily, I am deeply indebted to Prof. Gita Bajpai, my guide, teacher and well-wisher, whose continuous and keen guidance made this thesis a reality. My extreme gratitude to her for the care and patience she showed in this long and enduring process.

Secondly, my gratitude to Prof. Usha Bhatt and Prof. R.L.Raval, for providing me necessary sources in the vernaculars.

My sincere gratitude to Prof. R.J.Shah, Head, Department of History, M.S.University, Baroda, whose consistent advice helped me in dealing with the technical matters related to this research work.

I am grateful to Indian Council of Historical Research (ICHR) for awarding me the Junior Research fellowship that helped in the initial stages of the project work. In this regard my special regards to Prof. S.M. Mishra, deputy Director of I.C.H.R. for his kindly support and advices.

I express my sincere thanks to the members and staff of the Maharashtra Archive, Bombay and Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Trombay for their timely help during the data collection work.
I am also thankful to Harshadbhai, of B. J. Institute of Research and Learning, Ahmedabad, who has rendered necessary services in data collection work.

I would like to express my heart-felt gratitude to my family members particularly my mother Shrimati Omkar Devi and my mother-in-law Shrimati Rema Menon whose blessings helped me to complete this work.

My daughter Surabhi Menon has been responsible in keeping me cheerful throughout my research work. Her cradling days saw the initiation of this thesis, which is submitted when she has stepped into school. Indeed a long and pleasant period to remember, both as a mother and as a researcher.
