I wish to thank all those who have helped me complete this research in the best possible manner. Their help, guidance, encouragement, kindness and at times criticism too, will always help me have the faith on myself and the subject of Geography in India.

Dr. Jayasree De – My respected guide.

All the Early Geographers, The Heads of the University Departments of Geography, The Teachers, The Non Teaching Staff, The Research Scholars and the Students of the University Departments of Geography visited for data collection throughout India.

All those who have helped directly or indirectly in order to make this research meaningful. Naming anybody in particular is a very difficult task indeed, for each one of those is of utmost importance to me.

Thank You All!
