ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A work of this kind, involving extensive field-work, surveys and measurements of buildings on site, was made possible due to the very generous assistance which I received from numerous students of architecture, fine-arts and geography. To name all of them individually here would not be practical and their names have been acknowledged in the descriptive portion along with the places to which they accompanied me. My gratitude is here expressed to all of them. But special mention must be made of those companions who were with me on extended tours lasting several weeks and they were: Mr. Jal Wadia, Mr. Harish Gandhi, Mr. Meheesh Naegahe, Mr. Naved Sayyed, Mr. Pishkin Shah, Mr. Thirenra Zala, Mr. Raju Mody; others who were with me for somewhat lesser periods were: Mr. Jayesh Dassi, Mr. Gautam Patel, Mr. Milan Bhatt, Mr. Girish Trivedi, Mr. Harendra Mehadewala. To all of these companions I express my thanks.

Among those house-owners who with great patience and kindness permitted us to work intensively in their old Havelis must be gratefully mentioned: Mr. Anand Prasad Amin of Vaso, Mr. Mahendrabhai Dassi of Baroda, and Mr. Arvindbhai Haribhakti of Baroda.

My thanks also go to Mr. Jaidespsinhji of Baria who gave me a number of letters of introduction to various princes in Saurashtra.

Regarding the intellectual part of the work, I greatly benefited from intensive discussions with the following professors of this University: Professor Dr. R. N. Mehta, Head, Department of Archaeology and Ancient History; Professor Dr. S. C. Misra, Head, Department of History; Professor Dr. Ratan Parimoo, Head, Department of Art History. I am extremely indebted to all of them.

In deciphering some of the Sanskrit texts I was greatly helped by Mr. Jaydev A. Jani, Lecturer, Dept. of Sanskrit; and for some of the vocabulary in Gujarati by Mrs. B. Modi, Lecturer in the Dept. of Linguistics. I am thankful to them.
