Acknowledgement

It is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me. At this moment of accomplishment, I thank God Almighty for all His blessings, my teachers for sharing their wisdom and my family for all the emotional support.

I am deeply indebted to my research guide, Prof. (Dr.) James Manalel, for the trust and the freedom bestowed on me throughout the study. This work would not have been possible without his insightful, structured and goal driven approach. Under his guidance I successfully overcame many difficulties and learned a lot as a novice in research methodology. His understanding, encouragement and personal guidance have provided a good basis for the present thesis. I gratefully acknowledge his painstaking effort in reviewing the drafts and final research report.

A very special thanks to my doctoral committee member Prof. (Dr.) Sebastian Rupert Mampilly, who was a mentor to me on many critical moments of the research process. He patiently provided the vision, encouragement and advice necessary for me to proceed through the doctoral program and complete my thesis.

Words will fail when I thank Dr. Joseph I Injodey, Principal, Rajagiri College of Social Sciences for inspiring me to embark on this adventure and for supporting me every step of the way. Without his continual encouragement and shared excitement, I would never have made it this far. I thank him for all the love and affection.
I owe a lot to Dr. Sam Thomas, School of Management Studies, CUSAT, for his unflagging support, encouragement and guidance throughout the study. His understanding, personal attention and brotherly affection kept me in good stead in my research. He was instrumental in guiding me through the data analysis process.

My special appreciation to Dr. Binoy Joseph, Mr. Veeva Mathew and all my colleagues at Rajagiri College of Social Sciences who have shared with me knowledge and experiences which have brought my feet to the path I walk today. Special thanks to Mr. Deepak Babu, Rajagiri Centre for Business Studies, for all the support during the completion of my thesis especially during the data analysis process.

This study drew upon the knowledge and experience of many senior professionals and academicians in the field of management. Although too numerous to name, they are appreciated for their individual contributions. I am also indebted to all the organisations who took part in this study and for the senior managers and survey respondents who made it possible for the completion of this research.

It has been a long journey which has finally come to an end, a journey that would not have been possible without the love, support, patience and the sacrifices of my wife and daughters - thank you!

Manoj Mathew
