ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

All praise and glory to God, the Almighty whose merciful love, guiding presence, sustaining grace and abundant wisdom provided the researcher health, strength and energy to the successful completion of this Ph.D thesis.

The researcher extends sincere and deep gratitude to his esteemed guide Dr. G. Virgin Sigamani, Professor of Political Science, Madurai Kamaraj University for his valuable, effective and timely guidance, helpful suggestion and high degree of encouragement rendered all through this research work and words are not adequate enough to thank him and without his encouragement, this work would not have been completed.

The researcher's mother Mrs. Nesamony David, beloved wife Dr. Vasantha Seenikumar and daughter S. Jacinth Beulah and other members of the family always encouraged and helped the researcher, through out his study and he thanks them all.
The researcher thanks profusely the Principals and Heads of Departments of Women's colleges affiliated to Manonmaniam Sundaranar University and Madurai Kamaraj University who helped him a lot in collecting the data for the research work.

In brief, many thanks are extended to all who have inspired and stood by the researcher in bringing out this thesis.

(D. SEENIKUMAR SELVANAYAGAM)