ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am greatly indebted to my research supervisor, Prof. K. Venkata Reddy, M.A., Ph.D., Dip. in Statistics, Vice-Chancellor, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur for giving me necessary counsel and guidance. But for his kind help, constant guidance, positive encouragement and personal affection, this work would not have been completed.

I am also very much thankful to Prof. N.V. Narayana, Department of Rural Development, S.K. University, Anantapur for his valuable suggestions.

My thanks are also due to Dr. P. Muralidharudu, Reader and Head of the Department of Rural Development, S.K. University for his help.

I acknowledge with thanks to the Officers and Staff of F.C.I., Hyderabad and also to the Officers and Staff of A.P.C.S.C. and Essential Commodities Corporation, Hyderabad for providing necessary data and information.

I am grateful to the Institute of Public Enterprises (I.P.E.), Osmania University, Hyderabad for permitting me to make use of their Library.

Last but not least I thank Mr. P. Parasimha Reddy and Mr. D. Suryanarayana for their cooperation.
