CONTENTS

Chapter-I INTRODUCTION
1.1 Concept of child labour
1.2 Child labour and child worker
1.3 Economic activities of child as labourer
1.4 Emergence, growth, nature and dynamics of child labour
1.5 Types, characteristics and causes of child labour
1.6 Child labour international perspectives
1.7 Child labour in India, its magnitude
1.8 Child labour scenario of different states of India
1.9 Incidence of child labour in Assam & North-east states
1.10 Child labour in the area under study - Synoptic view

Chapter-II OBJECTIVE, SCOPE, COVERAGE OF THE STUDY AND THE REVIEW OF LITERATURE
2.1 Objectives of the study
2.2 Scope, rationale and coverage of the study
2.3 Hypotheses drawn and tested
2.4 Methodology adopted
2.5 Format of study
2.6 Review of literature.

Chapter-III DEMOGRAPHIC, SOCIO-ECONOMIC PROFILE OF THE PROJECT AREA
3.1 Kamrup, the legendary and ancient history
3.2 Location and area of the district
3.3 Natural divisions and topography
3.4 Administrative structure
3.5 Demographic profile
3.6 Socio-economic profile - Income, employment occupational diversities and poverty of population
3.7 An abstract of C.D blocks & metropolitan city covered and surveyed
3.8 Socio-economic scenario of habitations covered under the project area.
Chapter-IV  TREND, COMPOSITION AND DIMENSION OF CHILD LABOUR
4. Child worker - An overview
4.1 Estimation of child workers - principles evolved
4.2 The trend of main or absolute child workers in rural areas of the district of Kamrup
4.3 Marginal child workers in rural area under study, its trend
4.4 The trend of urban child workers in the areas of the district under study
4.5 Age and sex composition of child workers of rural areas under study
4.6 Age and sex composition of child labourers of urban area under study
4.7 Dimensions of child labourers - rural and urban
4.8 The magnitude of migration and immigration of urban child labourers
4.9 Summary and conclusion

Chapter-V  EMBRYOLOGY OF CHILD LABOUR AND FACTORS ATTRIBUTING TO IT
5.1 The embryology of child labour.
5.2 Factors attributing to child labour.
5.2.1 Poverty and child labour.
5.2.2 Family and family income.
5.2.3 Size of holdings, parent and adult unemployment attributing to child labour.
5.2.4 Occupational pattern and economic structure in rural and urban areas.
5.2.5 Sociological factors attributing to child labour.
   I. Education & literacy, II. Caste, religion & tradition, III. Migration and Immigration, IV. Physical environment, social condition and parental health attributing to child labour.
5.2.6 Inoperative and Inadequate protective child labour legislations.
5.2.7 Absence of administrative alacrity and political will attributing to child labour.

5.2.8 Summary and conclusion.

Chapter VI

DISECONOMIES AND ECONOMIES OF CHILD LABOUR

Diseconomies of child labour:

6.1 Social and economic implications of child labour.
6.2 Diseconomies of child labour: Retardation of physical growth and moral development.
6.3 Educational deprivation, a serious diseconomy.
6.4 The cheap wage and wage payment, another diseconomy of child labour.
6.5 Working for excessive hours, an untenable episode of child labour.
6.6 Economically unsound giving rise to adult unemployment.
6.7 Other diseconomies and deleterious effects of child labour.
6.8 Economies of child labour: An overview.
6.9 Economies of child labour: Child workers’ contribution to family income of rural area.
6.10 Child workers are sustaining the family occupation and traditional household industries.
6.11 Help solved child delinquency and train children to make a living.
6.12 Income, expenditure and net savings of migrant child labourers.
6.13 Summary and conclusion.

Chapter VII

LEGISLATIONS ON CHILD LABOUR, ITS EFFICACIES

7.1 Need for protective child labour.
7.2 Constitutional provisions.
7.3 Legislative enactments.
7.4 Legislative enactment in operation to deal with child labour in Assam.
7.5 Efficacies of child labour legislations in Assam.
7.6 Summary conclusion and reasons for ineffectiveness of child labour legislations.
Chapter-VIII FINDINGS, APPRAISAL AND SUGGESTION FOR POLICY FRAMEWORK

8.1 Child labour problem: An overview.
8.2 Brief account of the objectives aimed at, hypotheses drawn and methodology adopted for the study of child labour situation in the district of Kamrup.
8.3 Appraisal of findings on the trend, dimension and composition of child labour.
8.4 Embryology of child labour, factors attributing to it, an appraisal.
8.5 Diseconomies and economies of child labour, the findings and appraisal thereon.
8.6 An appraisal on the efficacies of legal enactments of child labour.
8.7 Policy framework for regulation, control and alleviation of the problem of child labour, suggestions thereof.

Bibliography i-xiv
Appendix xv-xxxii
Abbreviations xxxiii-xxxiv
Profile of child labourers xxxv

*****