ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I acknowledge with deep gratitude the help, dynamic encouragement, fruitful discussions and meticulous guidance rendered by my supervising guide, Dr. K.P. Mani, Associate professor, College of Cooperation, Banking and Management, Kerala Agricultural University, Vellanikkara, Thrissur in preparing this thesis.

I am indebted to Dr. K.C. Sankaranarayanan, former Dean & Professor, Dr. D. Rajasenan, Professor and Dr. P. Arunachalam, Head Department of Applied Economics, Cochin University of Science and Technology (CUSAT), Kochi for permitting me to do research in their Department.

My thanks are due to the Administrative Staff of the Department of Applied Economics, CUSAT for their encouragement and help. I gratefully acknowledge the collaborative approach and timely help given by the Administrative staff of Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam.

I convey my sentiments of gratitude to all my senior officers especially to Sri. S.M. Vijayazad, Sri. Teeka Ram Meena and Dr. P.P. Balan who were very keen to know the progress of my work. I am grateful to all my colleagues and friends for their inspiration and invaluable help in many ways.

During my research work I had prolonged discussions and interviews with presidents and staff of different panchayats. They spared enough time with me despite their busy schedules. At the data collection stage, Sri. K. Sukumaran, Deputy Director of Panchayats (Retired), Sri. K. Pushparajar, Deputy Director of panchayats and Smt. P. Baby, Madikai panchayat president had extended me a lot of help. I am grateful to all of them.

I had opportunity to discuss with many experts in the field especially Professor S.P. Jain and Professor K. Sivasubramanyam formerly of National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad, Dr. M. Raghavan formerly of Kerala Institute of Local Administration, Thrissur,
Dr. George Mathew of Institute of Social Sciences, New Delhi, Professor Kenneth Davey of Open Society Institute, Budapest, Hungary, Professor Indira Rajaraman of National Institute Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi and Professor P.K. Chaubey of Indian Institute of Public Administration, New Delhi regarding various aspects of local government finances. They had also provided me with rare documents which were very useful to me in the preparation of the thesis. I place on record my indebtedness to all of them. I remember with gratitude the fruitful discussions I had with Professor Shailesh Gandhi, Professor Pratap Reddy and Dr. Venkatakrishnan of Institute of Rural Management, Anand.

I am extremely grateful to the Librarians of Kerala Institute of Local Administration, Thrissur, Department of Applied Economics, (CUSAT), Kochi, College of Co-operation and Banking, Kerala Agricultural University, Thrissur, Dr. John Mathai Centre, Thrissur, National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad, National Institute of Public Finance and policy, New Delhi, Indian Institute of Public Administration, New Delhi, who had given me valuable advice on important documents and academic works related to my area of research.

I extend my thanks to my parents and brother for providing a supportive climate. I am grateful to my wife Smt. S. Kumari and my sons Akhil and Anand for their love, inspiration, patience, and sacrifice for the successful completion of my thesis.

I would like to record my appreciation of the typing of the manuscript done my Mr. Pauly Manjaly of Educare Infotech, Thrissur.

I am thankfully obliged to God the Almighty for His blessings showered on me throughout my life.

Sukumaran V.P.