This thesis entitled "Political Movement of Sonaram R. Sangma and its impact upon the Garo society" is an attempt to study the movement launched by Sonaram R. Sangma in the beginning of the twentieth century. The movement which lasted for over a decade has left an indelible impact upon the Garo people and hence the effort has been made to study the same from the historical perspective.

To the best of my ability and knowledge, I have searched and tapped all the relevant information in connection with this work from various quarters available in India. Besides these, interviews with old people both Garo and non-Garo people have been conducted to get the correct and reliable information on the life, works and movement of Sonaram R. Sangma.

I am very much indebted to Prof. Bharati Barua, Department of History, Gauhati University for her constant help, guidance and supervision throughout the period of research. My thanks are due to the Director, National Archive of India, New Delhi; Director, West Bengal State Archive, Kolkata; Director, National Library, Alipore, Calcutta; the Superintendent and the Under Secretary, Secretariat Record Room, Shillong; Director, Dispur Archive and the Assam Legislative Assembly Library, Dispur for their kind permission to consult all the relevant informations at their disposal in connection with this work.

Last but not the least, I am thankful to all my friends, parents and guardians who helped me much in conducting interviews with them.

Tharpush K. Sangma.
