ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I may fail in my duties if I do not acknowledge the helps extended by a good number of persons for the successful completion of my research on Tantra and if I do not offer my heartiest thanks to them.

Dr. Rajendra Nath Sarma, M.A., Ph.D., D. Litt., Mīmāṁsā-Vyākaraṇa Shāstri, former Head of the Department of Sanskrit and Senior most Professor at present, Department of Sanskrit, Gauhati University, deserves my first thanks for his untiring guidance of this thesis. In fact, words fail to express my deep sense of gratitude which I owe to Professor (Dr.) Rajendra Nath Sarma. His constant encouragement and constructive suggestions always prove highly mentioning.

I am grateful to Dr. Sudhendu Mohan Bhadra, M.A., Ph.D., Veda Shastri, Head of the Department of Sanskrit, Cotton College, Guwahati, Mrs. Jamini Devi, M.A., Sahitya Shastri, wife of my revered Guide Professor R.N. Sharma, Dr. Prem Saran, IAS, Ex-D.C., Darrang Disttrict, Students Dr. Bhabani Bhusan Banik, B.Sc., B.A., D.H.M.S and Mr. Subrata Saha, M.Sc. (Physics), for their inspiration.

I am thankful to Prof. (Dr.) Mrs. Nalini Devi Mishra, M.A., Ph.D., Head of the Department of Sanskrit, Gauhati University and also to all the respected faculty members of this department for their valuable advice.

My thanks are also due to Dr. Khargeswar Deka, M.A., B.Ed., Ph.D., Principal, Kharupetia College and all other lecturers and employees of Kharupetia College, for their encouragement.

I take this opportunity in recording my thanks to all the members of Mr. Champa Lal Shethi (New Delhi), Manoj – Sanjay – Rakesh (Kolkata), friend Indrajit, brother Pallab, brother-in-law Tapas, cousin Manik, student Rajashri and Raja (Guwahati) as I have derived help from them in various ways.
I must acknowledge the pains taken by Sri Kalicharan Das, Department of Geography, Gauhati University, in making the computerized type-setting with all patience and care. I also record my appreciation of Sri Das for his good command of the English Language, methodical concept and profound dexterity in printing this thesis which is full of Sanskrit Slokas, sentences and references.

I am also indebted to my wife Smt. Jyotsna Datta who accompanied me to all the libraries and Tantric centers and helped me in my studies in various ways.

It remains for me to offer my heartful thanks to all the authorities of the following libraries for their all possible services rendered to me for my research work:

(Parimal Kumar Datta)