ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

More than half a decade is not a short period in one’s life span. ‘Thank you’ would not suffice for all the help, support and cooperation I received during the long years of my PhD study. All through the times of trials and tribulations, many people stood with me rock solid to render their full companionship towards my PhD study to the best of their capacity. With the Almighty’s blessings and loving grace, I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks and gratitude to all of them who have directly or indirectly helped me meet this dream. A few names I can recollect to thank at this juncture are given below, though I may have left out on many more. Utmost thanks to all.

At the outset, my heartfelt thanks and gratitude to Dr. C. G. D’Lima, without whom the dawn of a PhD study, in my academic career, would not have happened.

They say the role of Guide is to, guide a research scholar to finish a PhD study successfully. Dr. Vidya Naik- my Guide went much beyond the role of a Guide. She was my Mentor, Motivator and Coach all in one, throughout all these years. A sounding board for all the ups and downs of the journey, I owe my entire process of PhD study from the submission of the term papers to its different stages to this wonderful, humble and most beautiful person, Dr. Vidya Naik, without whose dedicated, intelligent, smart, relentless and sincere work and consistent love and affectionate motivation, the PhD may not have seen its completion.

The invaluable support, cooperation and guidance received from Dr. Kalim Khan from Rizvi Institute of Management Studies & Research, Mumbai from the registration to all the past years especially during the synopsis work, is much treasured. I owe my thanks to Ms. Swati Garg and Dr. Garima Sharma from Rizvi Management, who were available to meet all my queries at all times and for all their invaluable inputs and excellent moral support throughout the PhD study.

No working woman can do a full time PhD study without the support from the work place he/she is associated with during the course of her PhD program. I owe my earnest thanks and gratitude to the Management of SIES College of Management Studies to allow me to undertake a PhD study in spite of my full time association with them in various roles. The able and dynamic leadership of Dr. Sen Gupta – Mentor at SIESCOMS was a big pillar of constant support and motivation for me. Be it any query or any obstacles hindering, Dr. Sen Gupta was always available to make the journey as smooth and efficient as possible. Professor C R Radhakrishnan (Ex-Chief General Manager- State Bank of India, Corporate Center) and current Dean-Finance and Dean- Administration at SIES College of Management Studies has been a man of few words and lots of action. Apart from all the encouragement and excellent support throughout all the years, I owe the major part of my data collection of the main study to him. As the study involved sensitive data to be collected, the trust backup and network of reliable contacts in the banking sector, required to get the necessary sanctions and approvals was made effortless and easy, only due to Professor Radhakrishnan. I owe my profound thanks and gratefulness to both of them.

Colleagues at SIES College of Management Studies include Professor Sivakumar (Ex- Deputy General Manager-Bank of Maharashtra) and current adjunct Faculty for Finance who helped me a lot with his contacts, towards data collection of the study. Profuse thanks are due to Professor Vidhya Rao- Faculty for MCA at SIESCOMS, who was the pioneer to help me develop, ratify and execute the online Google spreadsheet for data collection. Dr. Nitin Vazirani- Dean-Human Resources, a constant motivator was an ever available resource for any help required, especially towards the final compilation of the PhD work. The study would not have got its momentum without the unstinting reinforcement and robust appreciation from my dear friend and colleague Professor Ira Kumar- Head - Placements at SIESCOMS. I shall always be grateful to Professor Ira for all her timely cooperation and care extended towards my PhD study. Generous thanks are also due to Mr. Ram, Mr. Jaywant from IT department, Mr. Chandrasekhar - Registrar, Ms. Rachna and Mr. Anand from Administrative office and Mr. Muthukumar V M for his ever available unconditional trust and support.

Many bank officials at the head offices, branches, training centers formed a crucial and valuable part of the journey. The study would not have taken the current shape without the wholehearted participation by all the respondents of different banks, the HR Heads and the Top Management personnel. Earnest thanks to all the SBI officials especially Mr. Muley, Mr. Gentyala, Ms. Asha Nigam, Ms. Anjali, Mr. Joshi– all from BKC office and Ms. Neelima from CBD Belapur office who were the main sources to extend a warm welcome and cooperation to aid my data collection at SBI. Mr. P. S. Sharma, Mr. Garg, and Mr. Lal and all faculty members from PNB, CBD Belapur Training Centre and Mr. Dabhir from BKC Head office of PNB have been instrumental in extending all their cooperation towards the study involving Punjab National Bank. Bank officials of IDBI who have extended their whole hearted cooperation for the study include Ms. Sirimati and Mr. Bajaj at BKC office and Dr. Sharma, Dr. Chakraborty, Dr. Chaturvedi and Mr. Chandramohan from the BOI Training Center at CBD Belapur. The IDBI team of Officials who contributed towards the research study include Mr. Yogesh, Mr. Vinod, Ms. Sandhya Singh and Mr. Dilip Patil from the BKC office and Mr. Jawle, Ms. Mayuri and Ms. Neeta from the IDBI Regional Training Center at CBD, Belapur. The HDFC team of officials, who extended their kind cooperation towards the PhD study, includes Mr. Kumar and Mr. Padmanabhan. Most sincere and abundant thanks to Mr. S. Sivakumar (CO-Risk) from AXIS bank who was source of dedicated force towards pursuing the study at AXIS bank. Mr. Ninan and Mr. Viswanathan– Senior VP also extended their kind cooperation to include AXIS in the study. Thanks to all of them. Thanks are also due to Mr. Karan from Kotak and Ms. Richa S from ICICI for their bank’s participation in the study. The times at Abhyudaya bank were so pleasant and easy due to the kind cooperation of Mr. Fernandez and Mr. Dalbhade at Abhyudaya bank, Vashi office.

Utmost thanks to Mr. A K Khandelval, former CMD, Bank of Baroda for his invaluable inputs in the thesis.

I am thus thankful to all the above mentioned people from the banking fraternity who wholeheartedly participated in the study in spite of their work pressures and time constraints and obliged the study with their invaluable inputs.

All the help received from Professor S B Muley, Mr. Ali Hasnain and Mrs. Sajitha Ranjith towards the study is acknowledged. The constant reassurance received from Mr. Hemant P – (Senior Photographer- DNA Newspaper) is highly appreciated.

‘Family’ is the one which gives all the moral support and backing during all the ups and downs of the PhD journey. They bear the brunt and sacrifice their time, efforts and aspirations to help the researcher glide evenly through the entire process. Someone who never stopped believing in me, inspired and motivated me to chase the PhD persistently is my Mummy, Mrs. Rosy Chacko. She was always there to put the impetus into the study whenever the journey was stuck or lost at crossroads. She remains the true spirit, the life and an epitome of motivation, behind my PhD study. I, thus dedicate this PhD to my Mummy. Thanks are also due to my loving husband Mr. K.S Varghese and my dear Papa, Mr. M. T Chacko, who were always present with their reassurances to pursue the study. Finally, my two lovely angels, my dearest daughters Ms. Sherlin and Ms. Sandra at their tender ages, were always more than eager to help, any time and every time, in their own sweet little ways to make my PhD journey, as smooth as possible. I take this opportunity to express my most genuine thanks and deep gratitude to each one of them.
