Contents

1. Introduction
   1.1. Applying Information Communication Technologies (ICT) for Better Service and Good Governance: A Review 1
   1.2. Akshaya: Programme and Objective 5
      1.2.1 Akshaya: Programme Details
   1.3 Objectives of the Study 6
   1.4 Structure of the Study 7

2. Review of Literature
   2.1. Definition of Information Communication Technology (ICT) 10
   2.2. Information Communication Technology in Governance 10
   2.3. Problems in Service Delivery 12
      2.3.1 Constraints in the Delivery of Citizens Services: An Overview
   2.4. Definition of E-Governance 14
      2.4.1 E-Government
      2.4.2 Advantages of E-Governance: An Overview
         2.4.2.1 Delivery of Services to Citizens
         2.4.2.2 Delivery of Services to Business and Industry
         2.4.2.3 Increased Efficiency of Departments/Government Enterprises
         2.4.2.4 E-literacy as a part of E-Governance
         2.4.2.5 Paradigm Shift in Public Service Delivery
         2.4.2.6 E-Governance and Functions of the Government: Areas of Transformation
         2.4.2.7 E-government – Stakeholders and their Interrelations
         2.4.2.8 Phases of E-Government
   2.5. ICT for Good Governance: The National Agenda 21
   2.6. ICTs for Development through Community Organisations for Efficient Governance: Initiatives in India and Around the World 22
   2.7. Critical Success Factors (CSF) and Critical Failure Factors (CFF) of ICT Projects 27
2.7.1. Information Factors
2.7.2. Technical Factors
2.7.3. People Factors
2.7.4. Management Factors
2.7.5. Process Factors
2.7.6. Cultural Factors
2.7.7. Structural Factors
2.7.8. Strategic Factors
2.7.9. Political Factors
2.7.10. Environmental Factors

2.8. E-literacy as a Tool to Bridge Digital Divide

2.9. Akshaya- Description of the Project
2.9.1. Universal ICT Access
2.9.2. E-Literacy
2.9.3. Creation of Micro ICT Enterprises
2.9.4. Creation of ICT Services
2.9.5. Role of Government

2.10. Unique Features of the Akshaya Project
2.10.1. Public-Private Partnership
2.10.2. Focus on Capacity Building
2.10.3. Development of Locally Relevant Content
2.10.4. ICT for Development

2.11. Benefits
2.11.1. Expected Direct Benefits
2.11.2. Expected Indirect Benefits

2.12. Impact of Akshaya in Malappuram
2.12.1. Wider Social and Community Level Impact
2.12.2. Transformational Impact
2.12.3. Economic Impact
2.12.4. Community Development
2.12.5. Sustainability of the Centres
2.12.6. Akshaya Project- Economic and Social spin offs

2.13. Characteristics of the Stakeholders of Akshaya Programme
2.13.1. Personal Attributes of Entrepreneurs
2.13.1.1. Age of the Entrepreneur
2.13.1.2. Gender
2.13.1.3. Socio-Economic Characteristics of Entrepreneurs
2.13.1.4. Community/Caste
2.13.1.5. Education
2.13.1.6. Professional Training in Computers
2.13.1.7. Entrepreneurial Experience
2.13.1.8. Orientation to Akshaya Programme
   2.13.1.8.1. Training for Entrepreneurs
   2.13.1.8.2. Evaluation of Training Programmes by Entrepreneurs

2.14. Organisational Profile of Telecenters and Information Kiosks
   2.14.1. Initiating the Enterprise – Planning, Capital Mobilisation, Staffing and Infrastructure

2.15. Sustainability

2.16. Income Generating Components of Telecentres.

2.17. Positional Advantage

2.18. Characteristics of the Beneficiaries of Akshaya Programme
   2.18.1. Age
   2.18.2. Gender
   2.18.3. Family Income
   2.18.4. Community / Caste Affiliation
   2.18.5. Occupation
   2.18.6. Educational Status
   2.18.7. Dwelling Place

2.19. Impact of Telecentres in the Society

2.20. Factors Determining the Use of ICT by Members of a Social System
   2.20.1. Perceived Usefulness of Computer among Beneficiaries
   2.20.2. Perceived Ease of Use
   2.20.3. Willingness of the User to Pay

3. Approach to the study
   3.1 Phases of the Study
   3.2 Location of the Study
   3.3 Sampling Procedure
   3.4 Selection of Managerial Determinants
   3.5 Quantification of Variables
3.5.3 Validity of the Scale
3.5.3.1 Content Validity
3.5.3.2 Construct Validity

3.6 Ranking

3.7 Measurement of Positional Advantage

3.8 Financial Parameters
3.8.1 Internal Rate of Returns
3.8.2 Payback Period
3.8.3 Return on Investment (ROI)

3.9 Techniques of Data Collection Employed

3.10 Statistical Techniques Employed
3.10.1 Percentage
3.10.2 Mean
3.10.3 Simple Correlation
3.10.4 Econometric Analysis

4. Analysis and Discussion

4.1. Demographic, Socio-economic and Psychological Profile of Akshaya Entrepreneurs.
4.1.1. Age
4.1.2. Gender
4.1.3. Annual Family Income
4.1.4. Caste/Community
4.1.5. Education

4.2. Technological and Entrepreneurial Profile of Akshaya Entrepreneurs
4.2.1. Professional Training in Computer/IT Courses
4.2.2. Entrepreneurial Experience
4.2.2.1. Previous Experience of the Entrepreneurs in ICT Related Enterprises
4.2.2.2. Previous Experience in Other Enterprises
4.2.3. Orientation to Akshaya Programme
4.2.3.1. Information Source Utilization of Akshaya Entrepreneurs for Initiating the Enterprise
4.2.3.2. Characteristics of Akshaya that have Prompted the Entrepreneurs to Venture into the Programme
4.2.3.3. Assessment by the Entrepreneurs Prior to Decision Making
4.2.3.4. Methods of Assessment Adopted by Entrepreneurs

4.2.4. Effectiveness of the Training Programmes
4.2.5. Adequacy of Training Programme
4.2.6. Improvement in the Training Programme – Perception of the Entrepreneurs

4.3. Organizational Profile of Akshaya Centres

4.3.1. Type of Ownership
4.3.2. Initiating the Project – Capital Mobilization
4.3.3. Staffing in Akshaya Centres
4.3.4. Hardware Specification
4.3.5. Maintenance of Hardware in Akshaya Centers

4.4. Income Generating Projects for Akshaya Centres

4.4.1. Limitation of the Programme as Perceived by the Entrepreneurs
4.4.2. Feasibility of E-payment Services through Akshaya as Perceived by Entrepreneurs

4.4.2.1. Advantages of E-payment Services
4.4.2.2. Limitations of E-payment Services
4.4.2.3. Suggestions to Improve E-payment Services

4.4.3. E-literacy Project

4.4.3.1. Advantages and Disadvantages of E-literacy Project

4.5. Positional Advantage of Akshaya Centres

4.6. Entrepreneurial Attributes of Akshaya Entrepreneurs

4.6.1. Attitude of Entrepreneurs Towards Akshaya
4.6.2. Achievement Motivation
4.6.3. Aptitude for Learning and Development
4.6.4. Social and Economic Development Orientation
4.6.5. Correlation Among Different Entrepreneurial Attributes
4.6.6. Correlation Between Personal Attributes and Entrepreneurial Characteristics

4.7. Demographic and Socio-Psychological Characteristics of Citizens Using Akshaya Centres

4.7.1. Gender Participation in Using Akshaya
4.7.2. Annual Family Income
4.7.3. Representation of Communities Among Akshaya Beneficiaries
4.7.4. Occupation of Beneficiaries
4.7.5. Educational Status of Beneficiaries
4.7.6. Prior Acquaintance with ICT
4.7.7. Dwelling Place

4.8. Impact of Akshaya on the Community - Some Key Indicators

4.8.1. Use of Computers as Perceived by the Beneficiaries of Akshaya Centres
4.8.2. Factors Determining the Use of ICT by the Members of a Social System
   4.8.2.1. Perceived Usefulness of Computers Among Beneficiaries
   4.8.2.2. Perceived Ease of Use
   4.8.2.3. Correlation between Perceived Usefulness and Perceived Ease of Use
   4.8.2.4. Gender Differences Among Users with Regard to Perceived Usefulness and Perceived Ease of Use
   4.8.2.5. Relationship of Perceived Usefulness and Perceived Ease of Use with Selected Personal Attributes

4.8.3. Akshaya as the Hub of Computer Literacy
4.8.4. Preference of Courses by Beneficiaries
4.8.5. General Purposes of Using Computers as Perceived by the Beneficiaries of Akshaya Programme
4.8.6. Ranking of the Features of Akshaya Centres
4.8.7. Nature of Intervention of the Government in E-literacy Programme as Perceived by Beneficiaries
4.8.8. Social Relevance of Akshaya Programme
4.8.9. Issues that Fail Akshaya Centres as Catalysts of Socio Economic Changes
4.8.10. Akshaya as a Revenue Generating Model for Sustainability: Reflections of the Clientele
4.8.11. Users Evaluation of E-literacy Courses Conducted through Akshaya Centres
4.8.12. Akshaya Centres as Source of Information to Citizens

4.9. Measures of Profitability of Akshaya Centre

4.9.1. Profitability: Analysis of Successful and Unsuccessful Akshaya Centres

4.10 Econometric Analysis

4.10.1 Inferences from the Econometric Analysis.
4.10.2 Result of Econometric Analysis

5. Conclusion

5.1. Future Services Proposed to be Offered in the Next Phase
5.1.1. Telemedicine Project
5.1.2. Insurance Services
5.1.3. Special Job Oriented Training on Animation and Multimedia Packages
5.1.4. Akshaya Markets
5.1.5. Akshaya Hardware Initiative
5.1.6. Vocational Courses
5.1.7. Other services
5.1.8. E-Governance Cell

Appendix I  Questionnaire for Akshaya Entrepreneurs

Appendix II  Questionnaire to Assess ICT Usage of Citizens Through Akshaya Centres in Malappuram