Acknowledgements

My efforts alone could not have succeeded in producing this dissertation. A number of individuals provided invaluable support and guidance, which helped shape the contents. The process of completing the work was facilitated by them. This thesis would not have been complete without the blessings of my spiritual master. I thank Swamiji for showing me the right direction at every point of time and showering his immense blessings on me.

I wish to thank my thesis committee, comprising of Dr. M. C. Agarwal, Dr. Meera Vijay and Dr. Meenakshi Aggarwal Gupta, all of whom, have invested their valuable time in helping me advance in my journey of becoming a respected scholar. They have been a constant source of inspiration and guidance—the cornerstones of my dissertation.

My thesis chairman, Dr. M. C. Agarwal has always supported and advised me throughout the research process. He has patiently worked with me as a great teacher, scholar, and a friend. Dr Meera Vijay has been not only my friend but a mentor from the day I joined SIESCOMS, checking on my progress and well-being regularly throughout my time here. She has played a major role in helping me conceptualize and mould my subject. She has counseled me on countless occasions, assisting my decision making throughout my doctoral work. I am grateful to her for her invaluable opinions. I am indebted to Dr. Meenakshi for stimulating my creativity with her brilliant insights and nudging my research into fruitful directions. She has also been an incessant source of encouragement. She has not only devoted time in my research dissertation but also taught me how to be patient and remain calm in the toughest times. She has been my saving grace. I am truly inspired by her abundant knowledge in the subject. Her humbleness, sincerity and reassuring nature has taught me a lot.
I am fortunate that I had these dedicated thesis committee members. I look forward to learning and collaborating with them in future, apart from applying the wisdom I have imbibed from them.

My sincere thanks to Dr Vidya Naik, who propelled me to complete my thesis work. She has been a source of continuous encouragement. My special thanks to Dr. GK Sir, Dean Research, NMIMS University, whose timely intervention ensured that my thesis finally saw the light of the day.

My thesis would not have taken form without the help of ‘Peter’ who stays miles away but has been a constant support. Apart from being on my TAC committee, he is someone who has spent time and energy in helping me analyze and solve my doubts.

Some people create an impression on your mind. One of them is Prof. Sumi Jha who has always been there for me whenever I had doubts in statistics. She is a lady of profound knowledge and an inspiring personality.

Apart from my committee, I would like to thank some additional professors who have supported me in my endeavors. Prof. Neelkanthan, my ex-Director who has always been a fatherly figure of encouragement and support. Dr. A K Sengupta, my ex-Director and a mentor who has always been a person with whom I can discuss, debate and unravel the creative side of me. Prof. Sharmila, a close friend and someone who has helped me write the Queen’s language more fluently.

Prof. Suvarna, who has helped me use the right words and phrases in my thesis. Dr. Aurora Rajinder, for leading and helping me into the field of management.
In addition to the professors I have interacted with, I would like to express my profound gratitude to the numerous HR Professionals and employees of various organisations, who cooperated with me. Their help and participation forms the basis of this research. I would also like to thank all my ex-students who helped me get the references of the HR professionals and their colleagues who assisted me in getting my questionnaires filled.

This thesis would not have been completed without the support of some of my students- Vishaka, Mehul, Sriram, Riddhi, Aditya, Subiksha, Sudharsana. However one of my students deserves a special appreciation- ‘Sandeep Sharma’. He has been my support right from the time I started writing my thesis. I thank him from the bottom of my heart. ‘God Bless’.

Last but certainly not the least, I wish to acknowledge my parents who have played a pivotal role in bringing me to the completion of my doctoral dissertation. They have provided me with unbounded love, support, and guidance throughout my life, which has enabled me to capture the endless opportunities that I encountered. They have made me what I am today. My parents have been a tremendous support system for me. Their prayers, love and blessings have enabled me to complete my PhD thesis. Thank You.
