ACKNOWLEDGMENT

First and foremost, I owe my profound gratitude and ever remain deeply indebted to my Guide Dr. M. Indira, Professor of Economic, Department of Studies in Economics and Co-operation, University of Mysore, Mysore, whose inspiration, encouragement and scholarly guidance helped me to complete this research work. Madam’s helpful suggestions, constant encouragement, valuable guidance, keen interest, warm cooperation and overall moral support to complete the thesis and to see the light of the day. I wish to express my sincere, hearty and grateful thanks to her.

I am grateful to Honorable Vice-Chancellor and also Registrar, University of Mysore for pertaining me to undertake my research in this prestigious University.

My sincere thanks are due to all the teachers of the Department of Studies in Economics and Co-operation and other scholars for their valuable suggestions from time to time in the Department on various aspects of the present research work. All the teachers as well as staff of the Department have been of tremendous help to me in one or the other way. I am very grateful to Mr. Prasad who helped me a lot in preparing of this thesis.

I am thankful to all senior research scholars, fellow research scholars, juniors and friends for their help and co-operation during the course of my research work.

Words are not enough to express my gratitude and indebtedness towards my beloved parents (Sri.Chikkachannaiah and Smt.Parvathamma), brother and family members who have always been a constant source of encouragement and support to me.

Finally, I express my deep sense of gratitude and thankfulness to all those who helped me directly and indirectly during the course of my research work.
