Acknowledgements

I bow in utmost reverence to “Almighty Allah”, the most beneficent and merciful, whose benevolent sanction led me to produce this “oeuvre” in its present façade and giving me the strength and patience to pass through difficult periods and complete the task.

It gives me immense pleasure as I express my profound sense of gratitude and respect for my supervisor Prof. M. Saleemuddin. I may not have been able to express this to him over all these years (and probably never) but this acknowledgement provides me the very opportunity to let him know that he is not just a Ph. D supervisor or a teacher to me, he is a person for whom I hold the greatest respect on earth, for being a great human being. He is a person of very high personal and moral values, which in the present era is a great luck to witness and learn. It has been a real blessing for me to have done my thesis under his excellent scientific guidance, incessant efforts, prudent suggestions and constructive criticism. Without his contribution it would have not been possible to present my work in a shape it is to date. I feel very fortunate to have a mentor like him under the tutelage of whom, I learned how to be persistent and patient during research.

I am extremely thankful to Dr. Owais for helping me in many ways. He has always been very kind and considerate, and I have learned a lot under his able guidance. I also express my deep sense of gratitude towards Dr. R. H. Khan, Dr. A. U. Khan and Dr. Hina Younus for their blessings and counsel in an august manner. I feel privileged for the very special bond I share with Dr. Parveen Sallauddin and the many cups of tea we had together.

I feel really blessed to have Dr. Ejaj as my senior, who always extended his help at any time of need, especially those during the first two years. I try to learn from him the art of keeping patience at the time of tests. He has always been like an elder brother to me. I also thank my younger brother in lab, Mehboob Hoque for all his assistance and cooperation. The description would be incomplete without mentioning my very dear friends Zainab, Sana and Rosina, and sometimes our very unscientific gossips at the lunch time. It is worth mentioning here that there has always been a very healthy bond with all members in the lab, which I believe has left a very affectionate memory in the mind.
I also thank my senior Dr. Farazuddin, Dr. Shazi Shakil, Dr. Qamar Zia, Dr. Meraj Ansari, Rabbani and juniors Nida, Atiya, Farha, Jyoti, Aafreen, Aasif, Saba and all M.Sc students for making a very friendly environment the department with so much of positive energies.

I appreciate the help and cooperation of the members of the non-teaching staff especially Mr. Faisal, Mr. Iqtedar, Mr. Lal Mohd, Mr. Chandrapal, Mr. Amir, Mr. Nasir, Mr. Isham, Mr. Mashkoor and Mr. Rajendar.

Special thanks are due to my dear friends forever Safiya, Saima, Rubeena, Khalida, Taranum, Aafreen, Farha, Seema, Nigar, Aisha, Kaneez, Farha Rahman, Sumaiyya, Nazia, Nahid, Asna, Ghazala, Yunus, Bilal, Mudassir and Askandar.

It gives me boundless happiness to express words for the dearest person in my life, Dr. Zeyaul Islam and definitely words fell short as I proceed. I feel lucky to have him as my other half, for his very high personal qualities. He might not have much to contribute to my research, but the mental and emotional strength his presence gives me is more than anything I would wish for.

Last but not the least, all the credit for my education till date is acknowledged in entirety to my dearest father Dr. Syed Md. Afaque and my beloved mother Dr. Nuzhat Perveen. I cannot express or probably can never feel the pain they took for us, departing themselves away from me and my sister at the tender age of 14 till date for the sake of our career. My parents are the only reason I was able to carry this long journey, and my whole existence is indebted to them for everything they did. I thank my darling sister Onaiza Andleeb Fatima for her selfless love and concern.
