At last a journey ends and another begins where my newfound wisdom and knowledge shall take me. But at this juncture I shall like to remember a few very important persons in my life, whose cooperation; support and advice constantly gave me encouragement to achieve my purpose. I wish to express my sincere thanks to all those who assisted with the completion of my dissertation work.

With deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness, I express my utmost respect and deepest gratitude to my guide Dr. Durga Madhab Kar, Professor and Head, Department of Pharmacology, School of Pharmaceutical Sciences, S ‘O’ A University, With for his continuous support and encouragement in my Ph.D study. You are always there to listen and to give advice. I thank you for giving me so much of your precious time and teaching me the different ways to approach a research problem and the need to be persistent to accomplish any goal. Without your guidance and constructive comments, this dissertation simply could not be completed. Your patience with me and the difficult part of this study is sincerely treasured.

I would like to extend my deep sense of gratitude and a sincere and special thanks to Hon’ble Prof.(Dr.) Manojranjan Nayak, President; Respected Vice Chancellor; Prof.(Dr.) P.K. Nanda, Dean, Research and Prof. (Dr.) B.B.Pradhan, Registrar, Dr. Sudam Chandra Si, Professor and Dean Siksha “O” Anusandhan University, Bhubaneswar, for permitting me and providing all the necessary facilities for carrying out my whole work.

I would like to extend my deep sense of gratitude and a sincere and special thanks to Mr Gajanand Engla, School of Pharmacy, DAVV, Indore and Dr Neelesh Malviya, Smriti college of Pharmaceutical Education Indore from the bosom of my heart for their constructive moral support, encouraging guidelines, affectionate & friendly behaviour, finding the quick solution of the complications emerged during the course of my work.

My heartfelt thanks go to my dear wife Mrs. Shweta Purohit Nayak for her love, serenity, understanding and tolerance during so many years when most of the time I was away from home are deeply appreciated for the rest of my life and also for taking the burden of the day-to-day activities and responsibilities of our daughter, when I was occupied with the study. Your patience to hear my complaints and frustration were very helpful. And thanks for being my personal wailing wall in times of trouble, encouraging me to work hard and always motivating me towards the right way whenever I was frustrated from a failure you are wonderful.

I would like to thank my daughter Prisha, although not yet old enough to read and understand what I am writing at this moment. She often knocked on the door of my home office at the moments I needed silence around me, bringing to me, however, the nice and funny things and saying: “Open the door papa! I want to play with you!” Probably unaware of that, she provided me with a psychological refreshment, and I have learnt from her what is responsibility. I wish her to do more than I have done and to succeed where I failed!

I pay my special regards to Dr Laxmidhar Maharana, Asst. Professor, Department of Pharmacology, Dr.(Mrs.) Snigdha Pattnaik, Associate Professor, Dr Agnimitra Dinda Asst. Professor, Department of Pharmatechnology, Dr Gautam Ghosh Asst. Professor, Department of Pharmacognosy, School of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Siksha “O” Anusandhan University, Bhubaneswar, for their ever helping attitude during the course of this work.

This thesis was written in affectionate dedication to my loving wife, my daughter, my parents, my brother and my sister, who through the years have given me support and valuable advices. I express my heartful gratitude to my dear parents and family members for their blessing and co-operation which helped me the most during my work.

I express my special regards to Dr Sunil Mistry It's because of his priceless intellectual guidance, constructive ideas, affectionate encouragement to the successful completion of this work.

I take this opportunity to thanks Mr. Ranjan Kumar Sethi, Mr. Prabhat Das and Mr. Chinmay Chidananda Behra for their help and moral support

I very humbly acknowledge my gratitude to Sophisticated analytical instruments laboratories, Punjab University, Chandigarh India for his kind support in carrying out all the spectral and analytical studies of my work.

Last but not the least; I thank God Almighty, who has blessed me with peace of mind, courage and strength.

Once again, I would like to thank all the people mentioned above for their contribution towards my work, and I feel that it was the combined efforts of all of us that have led to the successful completion of this work.

Should there be anyone I failed to acknowledge, my sincere regret, my apology and my thanks go to him/her too.
