I am Grateful to the Guide of this research, Dr. Harbans Patel, for his cooperative and open-minded approach. He has always expressed rare patience and understanding, which have been the most supportive gestures during the entire course of this research.

The American Studies Research Centre, Hyderabad, has been a stimulating and enriching academic resort. I am deeply indebted for all the assistance that the ASRC so readily and cheerfully extended to facilitate this research. I am particularly thankful to Dr. M. Glen Johnson, Dr. Issac Sequeira, Dr. B. Ramesh Babu, Dr. Kausar Azam, Dr. Joseph Plakkoottam, and Ms. Srinidhi Iyengar of the ASRC. My sincere thanks are also due to Mr. Vishwanathan of the United States Information Service and the American Centre Library, Bombay for making some of the most useful journal articles and books accessible through their extremely efficient mail service.

The colleagues in my University have always shown appreciative concern about the progress of my research and have thus often activated my research pursuits. I acknowledge their encouraging and thoughtful concern and am thankful to all of them and most particularly to Dr. J. N. Pandya for his crucial, memorable and timely support.

Information Technology Centre, Mogri, has been extremely cooperative in offering its excellent data processing technology in a serene and inspiring work environment. I salute the entire team of the Centre for its unflinching help.

With a sense of pride and humbleness of scholarship, I own the responsibility of this study, for which I thank God.
